Sartain and Riehl Lose Appeals in Bribe Case

COURT SUSTAINS PRISON SENTENCE FOR EX-WARDEN

Whether Defendants Will Now Serve Sentences or Take Cases to Supreme Court Undecided.

ALL ASSIGNMENTS IN WRIT OVERRULED

Sentenced on Charge of Conspiracy To Accept Bribes From U. S. Prison Inmates.

Appeal of Albert E. Sartain, former warden of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, and Heine Riehl, of Columbus, Ohio, convicted in United States district court on charges of conspiracy to accept bribes from inmates of the Atlanta penitentiary, Tuesday was denied in a decision of the circuit court of appeals upholding Federal Judge Robert J. Ervin, of Mobile, Ala., who presided at the trial in place of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, according to advices from New Orleans.

Whether Sartain and Riehl will accept the decision of the court of appeals and serve their sentences in the prison where Sartain formerly ruled as warden, or whether they will appeal to the supreme court, could not be learned early Tuesday night. Hooper Alexander, attorney for Sartain, said that he will have to confer with James N. Linton, of Columbus, Ohio, attorney for Riehl, before taking further steps.

Was Sensational Trial.

According to information received Tuesday night in Atlanta, the circuit court of appeals, which heard the case in Atlanta several months ago, overruled every one of the 24 assignments in the writ of error by which the case was carried above federal court.

Trial of Sartain and Riehl created a nation-wide sensation two years ago when the two men were arrested, together with L. P. Fletcher, deputy warden of the penitentiary, on charges of conspiring to accept bribes from what was known as the "Savannah bootleg ring," composed of Willie Haas, Graham Baugh and others convicted in Savannah of violating the prohibition law.

Fletcher was acquitted at the trial in federal court, while Sartain and Riehl were sentenced to one year and a day. The case was prosecuted by District Attorney Clint W. Hager, who also opposed the efforts of the defendants before the court of appeals at the session in Atlanta.

The case has been pending for some months following the close of the court of appeals session in Atlanta, the court having adjourned to New Orleans, where the decision was reached and handed down.

COUNSEL EXPECTS FURTHER APPEAL

Columbus, Ohio, January 4.—(AP)—When informed tonight that the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans had affirmed the convictions of Albert E. Sartain, former warden of Atlanta federal penitentiary and Heine Riehl, of Columbus, Ohio, charged with conspiring to accept bribes from prison inmates, James M. Linton, chief counsel for Sartain, declared "there is a probability" that the case would be carried to the supreme court.

He said no definite decision would be made until he had conferred with his client and associate counsel in Atlanta.

American Rights To Be Protected In Nicaragua Row

White House Emphasizes President's Intention To Safeguard Private and National Interests.

FAIRCHILD URGES SUPPORT OF HOUSE

Wheeler Resolution Demanding Withdrawal of Marines Will Come Up in Senate Today.

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—With the Wheeler resolution demanding withdrawal of American naval forces from Nicaragua due to be discussed tomorrow before the senate foreign relations committee white house officials today emphasized President Coolidge's intention not only to protect private life and property in that country but to safeguard rights belonging to the Washington government as well.

The policy announced at the white house was supported by a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Fairchild, republican, New York, which called for the full concurrence of that body with the administration's aims.

The chief interests this government has in Nicaragua were given by the white house spokesman as the purchase at a cost of $3,000,000 of a canal right of way across Nicaragua and the acquisition by treaty of privileges to establish a naval base in the Gulf of Fonseca, on the west coast. No actual use has been made of either of the acquired rights, but it was made apparent that the administration has no intention of relinquishing them.

Of no less importance, it was indicated, are the interests represented by private American investments in lumber, coffee, rice, fruit and mining enterprises, for the protection of which the government has assigned the naval forces to Nicaragua.

DECLARES CANAL RIGHTS ARE NOT ENDANGERED

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—"I do not know that the canal rights of the United States in Nicaragua or the Fonseca bay concessions are threatened by anybody," said T. S. Vaca, assistant secretary of the State Department, here today. "There is no canal under construction and no canal has been located at points on the Nicaraguan coast farthest from the site of the proposed canal. The constitutional government headed by Saca has never questioned the canal rights by direct or indirect word or action. This matter is entirely foreign to the issues at stake in the struggle to establish constitutional government in Nicaragua and to free the country from another irresponsible ruler."

American marines have been ordered and are holding war supplies at Puerto Cabezas belonging to the liberal Nicaraguan forces, Vaca stated. He added that this action was contrary to the white house statement that there was no interference with either side.

Senator King, Utah democrat, today scored the president for an "attempt to lecture the press the other day because of its criticism of the administration's foreign policy."

GOVERNOR MORLEY DEFIED BY WARDEN

Head of Penitentiary, Entrenched With Arsenal, Refuses To Obey Orders of Colorado Executive.

Denver, Colo., January 4.—(AP)—Entrenched in the state penitentiary at Canon City with an arsenal, which includes machine guns, Warden Thomas J. Tynan, tonight defied Governor Clarence J. Morley, of Colorado, to enforce an executive order suspending him without pay for ten days and appointing an acting warden.

Whether the machine guns form a part of the warden's first line of defense against any attempted invasion of the prison by Sheriff Clifford R. Glasgow, of Fremont, Colo., named by the governor to serve in Tynan's place, was a matter of controversy. Governor Morley in announcing the suspension of Tynan declared he had reliable information that the warden had mounted a machine gun commanding the main entrance to the prison, to reinforce his patrol of armed guards holding the padlocked gates to the institution.

Warden Tynan admitted his arsenal included machine guns used in guarding prisoners working in the quarries, but he laughed at the governor's statement about the machine gun at the prison entrance.

Tynan made it plain, however, that "nobody is going to take possession of this penitentiary except by legal means." He asserted the courts had ruled the governor had no power to suspend the warden. The warden serves under the state civil service commission.

Charges of inefficiency, drunkenness, insubordination and intemperance of Tynan today by Governor Morley who handed them to a member of the civil service commission. Whether the civil service commission will formally receive the charges before Morley's term expires, however, was a matter of speculation tonight.

WOMAN BARELY ESCAPES FROM BURNING HOME

Mrs. Arthur Harris Carried From Sick Bed in Blazing Home.

Carried unconscious from her burning home in the fashionable Druid Hills residential section, Mrs. Arthur I. Harris, wife of the president of the Atlanta Paper company, narrowly escaped death in one of two fires which threatened to do heavy damages Tuesday afternoon.

Flame and smoke caused an estimated damage of $25,000 to the Harris residence, at 1509 Ponce de Leon avenue, gutting the basement and all of the first floor, except one room, said to contain a collection of rare books. The blaze of undetermined origin burst forth in the rear of a building at 833 Peachtree street, occupied by the Cash Grocery company, and spread so rapidly that the entire store was gutted before firemen could get the blaze under control.

CHAMPION FATHER MEETS COOLIDGE THURSDAY AT NOON

Washington, N. C., January 4.—(AP)—President Coolidge and congress will meet the "champion father of the United States" next Thursday.

Reuben Bland, of Martin county, father of 34 children, who claims the national paternal title, will leave tomorrow for Washington, D. C., accompanied by Carl Goerch, published of a local newspaper.

Bland will be presented to congress by Representative Lindsay Warren and arrangements have been made for him to meet the president at noon.

Decision to make the trip to the national capital followed the introduction to Mr. Coolidge and congress a few weeks ago of a Georgian who had fathered 28 children.

"I expect to have a good time," Bland commented tonight, "but my main reason for going is to keep the record straight and see that that fellow from Georgia does not take any of North Carolina's honors."

Bland's departure tomorrow will be accompanied by a rousing celebration. At that time he will deliver a speech on which he was laboring tonight.

35 HURT, 4 FEARED DEAD IN FLAMES THAT SWEEP SHIP

Bark, Loading Pitch, Turned Into Seething Fire by Explosion—Two Seen Dead in Hatch.

Baltimore, January 4.—(AP)—Thirty-five persons were injured and four workmen believed killed in an explosion aboard the French Barque Richelieu at a Curtis Bay pier of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad late today. The Richelieu, out of Mantes, was loading pitch for Lorient, France. An unexplained blast turned the cargo into a seething mass of flames which continued to burn fiercely tonight.

Of the injured, three—William T. Oulout, Joseph Toulout and Joseph Saluun—were members of the Richelieu's crew. The others were for the most part negro dock hands. The missing men also were believed to be negroes. Two workmen were seen by firemen to fall back into the flames as they struggled to escape from a blazing hatch.

Ten French naval cadets, attached to the Richelieu, for training, were accounted for by Captain Jules Corne, the vessel's master. Captain Corne was in his cabin when the explosion threw him to the floor. He dashed to the deck and ordered all hands ashore. Only half of the 70 men aboard the vessel or in her hold were able to respond, however. Firemen found many of the negro workmen unconscious with their clothing on fire. Paul Maguerez, second officer of the Richelieu, led a crew of cargo trimmers out of a hatch only a few seconds ahead of the blast. He and his men, in the confusion which followed, were believed for a time to have perished.

Loss was estimated at $200,000 including the cargo valued at $75,000, damage to piers and loading towers.

WILL MAKE CASES FOR 'JAY WALKING' CHIEF ANNOUNCES

Chief Beavers Stated that he will follow recommendations of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale in his inaugural address Monday night, and that a three-day educational period will be allowed in which traffic officers will be instructed to warn persons breaking the law, and that, after that time, offenders will face court action.

Object of Lights.

"We feel that the lights of the synchronized control system were installed to prevent accidents and to speed up traffic," Chief Beavers said. "They are not performing that service to the maximum efficiency, on account of the apparent disregard of pedestrians for the stop signal."

In addition to their failure to accelerate movement of motor traffic as much as could be, pedestrians who cross streets without waiting for the green "go" signal endanger their own lives and possibly the lives of others. Many of Atlanta's accidents last year, in which pedestrians were involved, occurred on account of the general disregard of the control system."

"All other cities, where the lamps are in use, force pedestrians to wait for the proper signals, just as they do the motorists," Mayor Ragsdale said in his inaugural speech. "This has been found to be expedient both from a speed and safety angle. We should do all in our power to correct the congested traffic conditions of downtown Atlanta. In no more strict observance of these signals by those about and those in machines would do much to correct the congestion, and at the same time afford greater safety to motorists and pedestrians."

A large percentage of accidents at these crossings, in which persons who are walking are involved, are due to lack of regard for these signal lamps, statistics show. It is our duty to Atlanta to protect them from themselves and insure their safety in every conceivable way. I can think of no better way than to observe the control lights."

CHINESE COOLIES MOB CONCESSION

Shanghai Hears Invaders Have Occupied Customs House and Have Expelled British Forces.

Shanghai, January 5.—(AP)—Disturbances from Hankow say that at 7 o'clock yesterday evening a Chinese mob entered the British concession and occupied the customs house, the Municipal building and "expelled" the British from the concession. Chinese police are patrolling the concession, maintaining order.

Loeb and Leopold, presenting a sleek and natty appearance, smiled their way through the cross-examinations, and heard Ream tell his story of the attack, during which he identified them as his assailants.

Neither of the slayers, now serving life sentences, seemed impressed with the proceedings, but appeared to enjoy the opportunity to visit with friends and attorneys. It was Loeb's first appearance outside the prison in two years. Early today, his case corpus proceedings were authorized for their appearance here.

During his cross-examination, Loeb told attorneys he was studying history, and when emphasis was laid on the question, "what kind?" he retorted, "all kinds."

Loeb was in the witness chair when Leopold entered the courtroom, Loeb nodded and smiled, and Leopold returned the salutation with equal animation.

Loeb's testimony was brief and dealt almost entirely with his preference in motor cars, what particular automobile he drove in 1923, and what kind of car Leopold owned.

Loeb seemed to be bored and yawned during his examination, once asking that the questions "be more concise."

The case is expected to be given to the jury sometime tomorrow.

SEBRING FOUNDER DIES SUDDENLY

Noted Philanthropist Had Been Speaker at Boards of Trade Meeting in Afternoon.

Sebring, Fla., January 4.—(AP)—George E. Sebring, 68, founder of this city, died suddenly at his home here tonight of acute indigestion.

He apparently was in good health all day and was a speaker at a luncheon meeting of the associated boards of trades of the scenic highlands at Babson Park this afternoon. Mr. Sebring returned from the meeting early tonight and complained of feeling ill. A physician was called and was with him at the end.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight, but interment probably will be here.

Mr. Sebring founded this city 15 years ago as a model community. As a pottery manufacturer he previously had founded Sebring, Ohio, and selected the location for his Florida city while he was in this section on a hunting trip with his oldest son, H. Orville Sebring. The community was laid out according to the best known methods of city planning and municipal engineering.

Last Sunday, at the dedication ceremony of a new Jewish temple, he was one of the principal speakers and contributed a large donation to the building fund.

In addition to his community leadership Mr. Sebring was identified with many state-wide movements. He was always interested in everything for the growth and improvement of his chosen state. He was an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and held many offices in civic and municipal organizations.

Surviving him are his widow, three sons, H. Orville, Payne and George E. Jr., and two daughters, Dorothy, of Sebring, and Mrs. Samuel Rose, of Baltimore.

SEVEN ORPHANED CHILDREN MOURN IN STRICKEN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Berry F. Bales Succumb to Injuries Few Hours After Catastrophe.

CAMPBELLTON ROAD SCENE OF TRAGEDY

Couple, En Route to Church, Had Left Children at Home—Eldest Son Theological Student.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry F. Bales, of Campbellton road, were killed early Tuesday night when the southbound "Dixie Flyer" crack Central of Georgia train, plowed through their light touring car at the Campbellton road and Lee street crossing in Oakland City.

The automobile was turned into a mass of twisted steel and both occupants received such injuries that they died soon after being taken to Atlanta hospitals. The tragedy left seven orphaned children, the oldest being 19 years old and a theological student in Tennessee. The youngest is four years old.

Watchman Off Duty.

The accident occurred about 7:15 o'clock. It is believed that Mr. Bales failed to notice the approaching train, driving onto the tracks before he was aware of the impending danger. There was no watchman on duty at the time, he having left his post at 6 o'clock, the usual hour.

The train was stopped immediately and members of the crew assisted in taking the bodies from the wreck and obtaining ambulances. Mrs. Bales was taken to the Atlanta hospital and her husband was taken to Grady hospital. Neither regained consciousness after the crash.

Mrs. Bales had a badly fractured skull, her left leg was crushed and she received internal injuries. Mr. Bales received a fractured skull and a broken leg and internal injuries. Doctors at both hospitals used every means possible to save the lives but their injuries were so serious all efforts were futile.

Children Stunned.

The eldest girl, Mary, on whose shoulders will largely remain the responsibility of the family, was heartbroken Tuesday night over the tragedy. Davis, the oldest son, is a student at Burnett college, Spencer, Tenn. He was notified immediately and is expected to reach the broken home today.

The children had been left at home by themselves, while Mr. and Mrs. Bales were to attend church services. First news of the wreck given the children was that the father and mother were seriously injured. Mary left with a friend to go to the Atlanta hospital but her mother was dead.

NEGRO IS SUING FOR PRIMARY VOTE

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—The question of the jurisdiction of the federal government over state primary elections was precipitated in the supreme court today in a case from Texas.

The appeal which was prosecuted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was regarded as vital importance in determining not only the franchise rights of negroes in Texas, but generally throughout the south. It was asserted by association counsel that should the Texas law be sustained, the negroes in the south would be effectively disfranchised by the state legislation restricting their rights in primaries. The association declared that in the south the real contest over candidates occurs in the primaries and that the general elections are merely perfunctory.

L. A. Nixon, of El Paso, a negro who had for years voted the democratic ticket, was refused permission to vote in the democratic primaries under the law of 1923, which prohibited negroes from voting in democratic primaries. He brought suit against the election officials which the trial court dismissed on the ground that the state law relating to primaries did not present a federal question.

The election officials did not present any defense on the appeal and were not represented in the court today by counsel. Attorney General Moody, who is soon to become governor of the state, obtained permission from the court to file a brief on behalf of the state, defending the validity of the law, and questioning federal jurisdiction.

Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, is seen at the upper left administering the oath of office to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale at the inauguration ceremony, which took place Monday night in the city council chamber. Both are on the rostrum, decorated by Glenn Dewberry, city hall custodian, and L. L. Wallis, park manager. Retiring Mayor Pro Tem Claude E. Buchanan is shown at the upper right receiving an engraved watch from Alderman William B. Hartsfield, chosen by members of council to present the gift to Mr. Buchanan in recognition of his services as presiding officer of that body last year. At the lower left, Aldermen Robert F. Pennington, of the first; Robert E. Gann, of the sixth; Oscar Williamson, of the ninth, and Dr. P. L. Moon, of the second, are taking the oath of office for their respective posts. City Clerk Walter C. Taylor administered the oath. One of the first official acts of Mayor Ragsdale was to swear in Judge Murphy M. Holloway, of the second division of recorder's court, for another four-year term. The mayor and Judge Holloway are shown at the lower right. sources and that the expenditure of $250,000 in his primary campaign violated the decision of the senate in the Newberry case that the expenditure of $150,000 was "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the honor and dignity of the senate and dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government."

While the debate on Smith's case continued, the senator-designate himself maintained silence and still left the senate in doubt as to when he would come to Washington to present his credentials. There was one rumor around the corridors that he would delay until just before the session ended, but this was without confirmation in any quarter.

In making his challenge of senate authority at the opening of hearings today by the elections subcommittee, Mr. Hinchey declared that neither the senate nor the house ever had expelled a member because of any act committed previous to his elections, "except where the act carried a status that followed him into the senate."

MAN AND WIFE KILLED IN CRASH

fore she arrived at the hospital. Her father died a short time later at the Grady hospital.

The home presented a pitiful sight Tuesday night. Mary, after returning, told of the double tragedy and the younger children grouped about her, heartbroken over the sudden loss of both parents. The youngest child, Mildred, four years old, was barely able to comprehend the fact that her father and mother were gone.

No Report Filed.
All of the children, excepting the youngest, were attending school. Mary was to have graduated from Fulton High school this spring and had brought home her 1927 class ring Tuesday night, displaying it with pride to her parents.

Complete details of the wreck could not be obtained Tuesday night from railroad authorities as the train continued after stopping and assisting the two dying victims, and no report was filed with officials of the railroad. The train is said to have been in charge of Engineer Hugh Shouse and Conductor Beatty.

An ambulance from A. C. Hemperley & Son, East Point, rushed Mrs. Bales to the Atlanta hospital, while Mr. Bales was carried to Grady hospital in an ambulance of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Other Survivors.
No funeral arrangements had been made late Tuesday night. Both bodies were taken to the funeral chapel of Sam K. Greenberg.

In addition to the children, Mrs. Bales is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Davis, of Fitzgerald; a sister, Mrs. J. M. Massey, of Fitzgerald; and four brothers, J. S. Davis, of Chicago; C. F. Davis, of Independence, Mo.; J. C. Davis, of Palatka, Fla.; and Raymond Davis, of Atlanta.

CLEAR WEATHER AGAIN FORECAST FOR CITY TODAY

Clear weather accompanied by a slight drop in temperature will continue Atlanta's spell of ideal weather through today, according to the forecast for Atlanta and vicinity by C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the local bureau.

Heavy rainfalls in the St. Lawrence river valley will have no effect on this section, the weather man stated in assuring that there were no signs of bad weather likely to alter the pleasant conditions here.

The lowest temperature during the past 24 hours was 49 degrees, while the highest registered by the thermometer was 56 degrees. The temperature range for today is expected to be from 49 to 53 degrees, Mr. von Herrmann said.

American "Gossiping" Abroad Now Facing Inquiry by Congress

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—A resolution designed to establish whether "unofficial gossiping" by Americans abroad is in violation of statutes prohibiting unauthorized diplomatic intercourse with foreign nations was introduced today by Representative Deek, republican, Wisconsin. He wants the house foreign affairs committee to conduct an inquiry in this direction.

Mr. Deek referred in his resolution to views recently expressed at the white house by saying:

"The president declared through the white house spokesman that he is being embarrassed in the conduct of foreign relations by the declaration of American tourists and others that the United States will eventually cancel the debts owing it by European countries."

home was destroyed by fire," she said. She said she had never viewed the body found in the ruins because relatives and friends urged her not to on account of the ordeal she was going through.

Inasmuch as the Sligh cottage was located in Irwin county across the line from Ben Hill county, it was thought probable that a deputy sheriff from that county would be sent to bring back the man under arrest in Los Angeles for identification.

Sligh, who is 35 years of age, is reported to have told Los Angeles police that he is the man sought and to have waived extradition. He was considered a wealthy man in this community and was well liked. He came here several years ago from Lula, Ga. He is father of two children, Annie, aged eight, and Harry B., aged four.

PINCHOT OPENS FIRE UPON VARE

Harrisburg, Pa., January 4.—(AP)—Charges that Senator-elect William S. Vare's republican nomination for that office was "partly bought and partly stolen" were made by Governor Gifford Pinchot in his final message to the Pennsylvania legislature today. The Mellon machine in Pittsburgh, and the "Mitten machine" were assailed by the governor.

Declaring that he had refused to support Vare in the elections for that reason, Governor Pinchot said: "I have no doubt that Vare deserves to be and will be excluded from the senate, but whether he is or not, the mere fact that senators-elect from Pennsylvania are in danger of losing his seat because of scandalous expenditures in the primary and notorious cheating in the election is a bitter disgrace to this community."

Governor Pinchot opposed Senator-elect Vare and Senator George Wharton Pepper in the primaries, Vare, gaining the nomination by votes rolled up in Philadelphia, his home.

Two "political machines," the Mellon machine in Pittsburgh and the Mitten machine in Philadelphia, he said, "spread their black, hawklike snarls over the community borne upon the wings of eminent respectability and organized crime."

"For many years," the governor said, "the politics of this state have been run as a part of the business interests. What these interests buy is noninterference, extortionate rates allowed public utilities, and other special privileges for themselves at the expense of the people."

The governor described as one wing of the political machines "men who depend for their living and their power on liquor, crime and vice."

"The other," he said, "consists of men who are so tied in with business organization of the magnates that they profit from the existence of the machine; partly of business men who are held in fear because of their loans and credits; partly of the generally decent citizens (of whom there are many) who follow the magnates because they assume that if a man is rich enough he can do no wrong; partly of persons who cannot resist the craving to stand well with those in power; and partly of such of the ostensibly respectable elements of the community as are willing (in Pittsburgh, for example) to shut their eyes and make common cause with gangsters, vote thieves, dive keepers, criminals and harlots, because of the social and financial eminence of the Mellon name."

VERA CRUZ QUIET, DENIES REPORTS OF REVOLT PLOT

Vera Cruz, January 4.—(AP)—Reports that General Arnulfo Gomez, federal chief of military operations of the state of Vera Cruz, has revolted are unfounded.

All is quiet and normal here.

PERSISTENT RUMORS HEARD AT CAPITAL

Mexico City, January 4.—(AP)—Persistent, but unconfirmed, rumors are current here that General Arnulfo Gomez, military commandant at Vera Cruz, has rebelled.

The Mexico City newspapers have nothing from Vera Cruz either confirming or denying the reports.

In government quarters no information was available concerning the reported rebellion.

Complete Re-Planning Of Local Sewer System Urged by Chief Hansell

Construction Chief Tells Rotarians City Growth for Next 50 Years Must Be Anticipated.

Atlanta's sewer system must be redesigned completely and plans for the future should anticipate in a general way the probable growth of the city in the next 50 years, according to an address by Chief of Construction William A. Hansell, Tuesday, before the Atlanta Rotary club at its luncheon at the Capital City club.

Mr. Hansell spoke in place of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, who was invited to make a speech before the club but who could not accept the invitation because he was suffering with a sore throat. In his talk Mr. Hansell declared that Mayor Ragsdale is depending upon members of the Rotary club to cooperate with the new city administration in solving the many big problems it now faces.

Discussing the needs of the construction department in the sewer system, Mr. Hansell said one of the chief needs now is to complete a topographical map of Atlanta and suburbs in an area of 400 square miles. Approximately $500,000 needed to complete this map will be available through a bond issue recently ratified, Mr. Hansell said.

In a general way he outlined plans of the department as calling for changes in present sewage disposal plants on the Chattahoochee river at points where they can best serve the proposed new system, and preparing a system which will take care of immediate needs of the city as well as be in condition to meet future needs by additions from time to time.

"Atlanta's present system was designed in 1889 when the city had a population of 60,000 people," Mr. Hansell said. "At that time expansions were contemplated and the system was designed to meet the needs of a city of 125,000 people. But the city has far outgrown this system."

All small streams in and around Atlanta are now contaminated and it would be possible for almost any property owner to go into the courts and force the city to build a greater sewer system, Chief Hansell said. He stated, however, that the best plan to follow is for the city to go ahead and build additions to the system without being forced to do so by the courts.

Harold Wey, vice president of the club, presided, and Fred Stone acted as chairman of the program committee. Bayne Gibson delivered a short, humorous address and Lee Ashcraft discussed principles of Rotary as features on the program.

TAYLOR TO ACCEPT U. G. I. POSITION

Announcement of the resignation of William H. Taylor, vice president and general manager of the Georgia Railway and Power company, to accept an appointment as vice president of the United Gas Improvement company, of Philadelphia, was announced Tuesday. He will assume his new duties February 1.

Mr. Taylor came here five years ago to accept a position as executive assistant of the power company, later being made vice president, and more recently vice president and general manager. Prior to his connection with the Georgia Railway and Power company, he was president of the Omaha Gas company, a U. G. I. property. He has also been operating head of U. G. I. properties in Gloversville, N. Y., and Charleston, S. C.

Mr. Taylor was born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1880. He attended Stevens Institute of Technology, graduating as an engineer in 1902. One year after his graduation he began his active career as a constructor with the U. G. I. forces. He rose step by step through the engineering, management and construction departments to the position of vice president and general manager of outlying districts. He has also played a conspicuous part in the appraisal of public utility properties in all parts of the United States, and has appeared as an expert witness before public service commissions and federal courts as an authority on rates and service.

Mr. Taylor is a member of the Capital City club, the Piedmont Driving club and the Atlanta Athletic club.

"We regret to see Mr. Taylor leave," P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, said. "His work here has been most satisfactory and successful. He goes to a larger field and he carries with him the esteem and good wishes of this company and its officers and employees. Mr. Taylor's successor with this company has not been selected."

FEDERAL GRAND JURY MEETS JANUARY 12

The federal grand jury will meet on January 12, it was announced Tuesday at the postoffice building, in an adjourned session of the October term. Whether the Nichols, Grimes, Gaines case, involving alleged fraudulent use of the mails, will be ready for the grand jury was not definitely known Tuesday. Other cases to be considered include the usual routine of narcotic, prohibition and postal charges.

NEW DECATUR LIBRARY OFFICIALLY OPENED

Decatur, January 4.—(Special).—With hundreds of visitors in attendance, among them the children of the community, the Decatur library was thrown open to the public Tuesday afternoon and night in its new quarters in the new Decatur city hall. Foremost among the features attracting attention of visitors was the collection of gifts to the library donated by citizens. These comprised expensive literature, works, fixtures and ornaments all of which tended to establish the institution as being one of the most uniquely distinctive in this district.

Among the officials in attendance were Miss Mary Grace Kehrer, librarian, and the following members of the library board: Mrs. John De Saussure, Mrs. W. J. Sayward, Mrs. William Alden, Hayne Gibson, Charles P. Roberts, G. W. Glauser and William Cole Jones.

The welcoming committee, headed by Mayor Scott Candler and Mrs. Candler, embraced heads of virtually all city departments, the board of education, civic organizations and luncheon clubs, school units and ministers of churches.

Among the honor guests were Miss Beverly Wheatcroft, executive secretary of the Georgia library commission; Miss Tommie Dora Barker, librarian of the Carnegie library, Atlanta; Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott college and Dr. Richard T. Gillispie, president of Columbia Theological seminary.

It was announced that the new library will be open free to the public starting Wednesday.

TWO PERSONS HELD ON DRY CHARGES ARE UNDER BONDS

Two cases involving alleged violation of the prohibition law were heard Tuesday by United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter.

In one case, R. O. Turner was held under $300 bond for the sale and distribution of liquor on the charge of possessing 30-1-2 gallons of whisky in a garage on Woodward avenue, while Mrs. M. H. Parker, owner of the property, who denied knowledge of the fact that the liquor was kept in the garage, was held for the grand jury under $100 on a prohibition charge.

Upon his statement that a gallon and a half of liquor found in connection with his arrest was his property, R. H. House was held for the grand jury under $200 bond, while D. S. Coop, arrested in the same case, was released, House stating that Coop had no connection with the whisky.

MUSSOLINI:

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN European Staff Writer of The Atlanta Constitution and The Evening World

THE DUCE Can Be Charming and Cultured and Turn in a Flash to a Man of Iron, Who Moves Thousands Into a Frenzy of Patriotic Fervor.

Mussolini—the most-talked-of man in the world! For two weeks Pierre Van Paassen European staff correspondent of The Atlanta Constitution and The Evening World, has been in Rome, practically in daily touch with the "Black Shirts" Premier. Many intimate opportunities were offered him to make a most exact study of this remarkable man in his various moods. Mr. Van Paassen has written twenty articles dealing with the past and present of the Duce.

To the American people these articles will be colorfully illuminating. Whether Fascist or anti-Fascist, Italian-Americans will find this unusual story of Mussolini of great interest.

The first article follows:

1.—THE TWO PERSONALITIES

Copyright, 1927 (New York Evening World, Press Publishing Company) Rome, January 5.—The magic name of Mussolini fills Italy from one end to the other. Long the password of the Fascist legions, it is now the dynamo that drives a nation of 40,000,000 with all the relentless energy of an indefatigable machine.

It is pronounced with reverence and pride by millions and whispered with a hiss of hatred and despite by a handful of enemies. It has the power to open all doors. It has created a new Italy, and there is no doubt that it could send whole armies marching to victory or doom tomorrow if it chose to do so.

"Mussolini" is the word that flashes to you from a thousand shop windows. It appears beneath every government manifesto pasted at the street corners: "Mussolini, Capo del Governo e Duce del Fascismo" (chief of the government and leader of fascism). The Mussolini features glow or smile from every second window in Rome, Milan, Bologna or Naples. They are stamped on church pillars, on museum doors and on railway platforms. You see them in city squares and on village market places. They fill Italy from the one end to the other.

I have come to know two Mussolinis during my stay here. The one is a charming, captivating man, courteousness personified, who talks of art, music, painting, poetry and literature. That is Benito Mussolini, the man, former high school professor and able violinist. The other is the duce, the Caesar, with the heavy jaw and the flashing eyes, who thunders defiance, who speaks of "Prescriptions," who works himself and his hearers into a towering rage.

The last Mussolini, the Mussolini in the skin of the duce, that the Italians like the best. To them he represents Italy. The Italy of victory, but an Italy kicked about and betrayed by the other great powers.

He is, then, the personification of an Italy mortified by the fact that she considers herself not treated with justice, not on an equal scale with France and England in the concert of nations. An Italy that has been crucified and robbed of the fruits of her heroic effort.

This is the Italy that the duce represents when he mounts the speaker's tribune. And he enters into that role

An Every-Day Story

Mrs. W. B. Foster

Augusta, Ga.—"Motherhood left me with a severe case of feminine trouble. I was so weak and nervous that I could scarcely move, my back ached and I suffered a great deal of distress and pain. I was a physical and nervous wreck when I happened to see Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised, and started at once to take it. By the use of this wonderful medicine I was entirely restored to health and strength. It gave me a new lease on life. 'Favorite Prescription' is a godsend to the ailing woman. It is perfectly wonderful the way it builds one up and strengthens every organ in the entire body."—Mrs. W. B. Foster, 826 Liberty St. Fluid or tablets. All druggists. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free advice.—(adv.)

with all the bitterness of personal recollections of the time when he was a vagabond on the face of the earth, when he ran messages barefooted and slept under bridges.

And then there occurs in the duce's spirit a strange, almost bizarre interchange of personification. He is Italy. And it is Italy that has been insulted, that has slept under bridges, that walked barefooted.

And when he clenches his fists and hurries defiance at France, at Germany or Turkey the Blackshirt legions applaud, jump to their feet, brandish their clubs and get into a frenzy of patriotic ardor.

The Transformation.

I was in the duce's workshop when the phone rang. He had been talking about poetry, about Dante to be exact, but as he picked up the receiver, I saw that change come over him, he became the duce. His brows contracted, his chin stuck out, his eyes flashed fire and anger and all this before a word had been spoken from either side over the wire. And then with a metallic, somewhat cavernous voice he snarled out: "It is I, Mussolini!"

A moment later he was once again his affable self. As is well known, the duce lives in Rome, but his wife and children live in Milan. His brother, Arnaldo, Popolo d'Italia editor, reproached him not long ago with neglecting his family. Arnaldo told Benito that his wife and children did not live in the style as befitted the relatives of the chief of the Italian government. He advised him first of all to get them a better apartment.

"All right," said the duce, "I'll go to Milan."

He went. Within ten minutes after that decision every rural police chief between Rome and Milan was advised by telegram to keep the roads clear and Mussolini, driving his own low-crouching roadster, shot out of the big gates of the Palazzo Chigi, siren wide open and screaming up the Corso Umberto, Rome's main street, out of the Porto del Popolo.

He arrived in Milan around five in the evening, having kept up a speed of seventy-five miles per hour all the way. After dinner he set out apartment hunting.

He heard of a place and at nine in the evening he rang the bell. The servant girl who opened the door saw a man wrapped in a big black cloak, the hat pulled down over two terrible eyes and, overcome with fright, she slammed the door in his face and ran back screaming into the hall.

A moment later the proprietor came to the door, revolver in hand. "With whom have you the honor of speaking?" asked the man.

"Mussolini!" answered a sepulchral voice.

Begs Forgiveness.

The man fell on his knees begging forgiveness for the servant girl's rudeness. Mussolini asked for the price of the apartment, rented it, paid in advance for the next nine years, drank a cup of coffee with his landlord, went home to tell his wife about the new place, stepped into his roadster and was off again for Rome.

Everything the man does is theatrical, calculated to impress the multitude. The least of his actions, the humblest human occupation is carried out with an air of a Jupiter Tonans or a victorious Caesar.

Mussolini said that he detests any one who takes him as subject of a discourse or an article, but he has never been known to contradict any who compared him to Caesar or who remarked on his facial resemblance to that other Italian, Napoleon Bonaparte.

And as the duce is the last and final judge on everything that takes place in Italy, he must have approved of that picture postcard that is sold in all the shops in Rome and Milan, which shows the well known smouldering Mussolini head and eyes above the historic uniform of Napoleon.

mountain torrent the next, thundering and crashing down everything in its way.

Plays to the Gallery.

"Blackshirts!" he shouts from the balcony of the Palazzo Chigi, "who will defend our outraged Italy?" and he gets a roaring "Noi!" (we) in return. He plays to the gallery at such moments. For he does not designate who has outraged his fatherland.

Mussolini understands the art of talking suavely for export, but rudely and imperially at home. He knows how to sweep his followers into a frenzy of patriotic fervor. He lashes them into a passion with his words.

The flash of fire from his magnetic eyes is contagious. After ten minutes' talk to any gathering of blackshirts, 10,000 eyes are flashing and 20,000 fists are clenched. One word from their idol and these men would throw themselves into hell fire.

Tomorrow—The Young Mussolini.

Error Puts Mail In Vacuum Slot 'Stead of Plane

It takes a lot of air to make air navigation possible, while the less air you have in vacuums the better they are. These scientific dicta became somewhat mixed in an odd little incident disclosed at the postoffice Tuesday.

The postoffice is equipped with air mail service and special letter boxes for all air mail. It also has a vacuum cleaning system worked by machinery underneath the building.

Tuesday the postoffice janitor, found six twisted letters bearing air mail stamps and plainly marked for the air mail service. The janitor took them to Postmaster E. K. Large.

Investigation proved that the proximity of the special air mail box, plainly marked as such, and an inconspicuous little flap or valve for the vacuum outfit caused the trouble. The senders of the letters saw the sign, "Air Mail" and glancing below the box saw the little flap of the vacuum machine.

A natural mistake led to the senders dropping their speed-demanding mail into the wrong chute, hence they landed far down in the basement machinery instead of in the pouches on the fleet planes.

Postmaster Large will take steps to locate the air mail boxes in such a position in future where mistakes of this kind will be prevented.

WADE JOHNSON'S CASE GOES TO HIGH COURT

Notice that Wade Johnson, under sentence of death in Jones county, has appealed his case to the United States circuit court of appeals, was filed Tuesday with Assistant Attorney General T. R. Gress, Attorneys for Johnson recently won a stay of execution for their client when Federal Judge Tilson allowed them to file a bill of exceptions on a plea they filed with him that Johnson had been deprived of due process of law.

The appeal will be argued before the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans. Johnson and Jarrett Benford were convicted in Jones county of an attack on a 34-year-old woman, Governor Clifford Walker commuted the death sentence of Benford but declined to commute the sentence of Johnson. The case was then appealed to the federal court and a stay of execution won in that court.

POISONED LIQUOR BATTLES WAGED

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—Both the senate and the house indulged in their daily dozen on prohibition today.

The senate sent along a resolution to Secretary Mellon inquiring, among other things, what had, if any, the Anti-Saloon league or Wayne B. Wheeler had in the decision to poison industrial alcohol, much of which has found its way into the bootleg trade.

The resolution also asks for copies of the law under which the treasury has required poisoning of alcohol.

The house gave thunderous applause to a defense of its membership against a charge of excessive drinking and received a new crop of bills sponsored by the wet.

Dry Ships Discussed.

The prohibition subject also got into a discussion before the senate commerce committee with President Dalton, of the fleet corporation, and Chairman O'Connor, of the shipping board, at odds as to whether the dryness of American liners constitutes a handicap in their efforts to compete with foreign wet lines. O'Connor took the affirmative and Dalton the negative, but the committee members did not undertake to set themselves up as judges of the debate.

The senate resolution of inquiry regarding poisonous alcohol was acted upon in the absence of its sponsor, Senator Edwards, democrat, New Jersey, a wet leader. His colleague, Senator Edge, republican, insisted on action and obtained it after Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, a dry leader, declared that "absurd and speak of poisoning poison." He added that he was willing that full information should be given, but could not agree to the language of the resolution.

Don't Be Skinny

Gain Pounds of Weight in 3 Weeks with Yeast and Iron—

or pay nothing

It seems incredible how fast IRONIZED YEAST adds pounds of good, firm flesh—on women and men, children and old people. Doctors know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. IRONIZED YEAST, in a highly concentrated form, contains all the blood building properties of vegetable iron with yeast. It is nine times more effective than a cake of ordinary baker's yeast or iron alone.

Sickening Oil Unnecessary.

A single tablet of IRONIZED YEAST gives you all the weight building benefits contained in 10 tablespoonfuls of cod liver oil, without the sickening, fishy taste and "re-petting" that follows.

New complexion for You

People ask—what is the magic in IRONIZED YEAST that transforms sallow, lifeless, faded complexions into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood? Wrinkles disappear. Eyes renew the sparkle of youth. Hollows fill out. No wonder thousands of women pour in letters to us in praise of the marvelous, youth-giving effects of IRONIZED YEAST.

Yet the answer is simple. Vegetable iron and yeast have been used for years to vitalize the body; to make rich, healthy blood; to improve digestion and bowel action and add weight. In IRONIZED YEAST these two valuable elements are combined in a special formula that is nine times stronger than yeast and iron used separately. That's why IRONIZED YEAST works so quickly. No nasty, pasty taste—Safe to take—contains no harmful drugs.

Transocean Phone Service Finds Many Ready To Talk

London, January 4.—(AP)—Hopes that King George and President Coolidge would talk across the ocean to inaugurate the trans-Atlantic radio-phone service were given up today, when it was announced that lesser lights would officiate.

Service on the radio-phone system has been set to begin on January 7. The postmaster general informed the public at large today that all would be ready at 1:30 p. m. London time (8:30 a. m. New York time) Friday for Londoners to converse with persons in New York.

When it became known recently that the service to the public was to be opened, there was a great scramble for enrollment among those who wanted to use the system on the opening day. Such a fuss has been stirred up, however, that the postmaster general may have to decide to draw lots.

Initial ceremonies and conversations will consist of a few formalities and an exchange of greetings; then the service will be turned over to the staff of trained operators who will make connections as the calls come along. For the preliminary service the hours between 1:30 p. m. and 6 p. m. have been set, but the officials hope after a few days that calls can be made both day and night.

tion should be given, but could not agree to the language of the resolution.

Edge Is Jubilant.

Senator Edge, who is the chairman of the wet group of the senate, appeared jubilant after the resolution had been adopted. He called attention that the wets had thus won two victories at this session, the other having been the elimination of the $500,000 provision in the treasury appropriation bill for defraying expenses of "over cover" dry agents in gathering evidence.

Defense of House Members from the Charge Made Yesterday by Representative Celler, democrat, New York, that members of congress drink and drink to excess was made by Representative Underhill, republican, Massachusetts, while the membership thundered its approval.

"I have been a member of this house for six years and during that time I have seen but one member under the influence of liquor," Mr. Underhill said.

When the echoes of the vociferous approval this statement elicited had died, he added:

"He is no longer here."

Only Four Members Intoxicated.

"During that time I have seen but four members intoxicated in the house building of congress or in the corridors, and none of them," he declared, amid more applause. "Two of those are dead and the other two are no longer members."

In this defense of the house Representative Cochran, democrat, Missouri, introduced resolutions proposing repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the sale of light wines and beers.

Representative Celler introduced a bill to prevent federal judges from issuing personal or voting padlock injunctions. In a statement accompanying the measure he charged that federal judges were trying just as hard to take trial by jury out of the constitution as Jefferson tried to put it in.

COTTON REDUCING DRIVE UNDER WAY

Raleigh, N. C., January 4.—(AP)—North Carolina's cotton reducing drive got under way today.

Meetings in Rutherford and Cleveland counties started the campaign sponsored by the agricultural extension service of North Carolina State college. Plans call for meetings every week day until the 38 principal cotton-growing counties have been covered. The meetings are scheduled to last until January 15.

District extension agents of the college department, assisted by Director E. O. Schaub and President E. J. Brooks and a large number of prominent speakers, will conduct the meetings. They are of a county-wide nature, and following the main gathering, local committees are to be formed and spread the gospel of reduction and diversification to every community.

The campaign represents one angle of North Carolina's efforts to come with the cotton price situation. The other side is of a financial nature and has resulted in the organization of the North Carolina bank with headquarters at Greensboro. Its purpose is to lend money on cotton stored in bonded warehouses over the depression period.

Prisoner Recaptured.

Miami, January 4.—(AP)—One of eleven white prisoners who sawed their way out of the city jail early this morning was recaptured in a rooming house today. The others, all held for minor offenses, are still at large.

EPIDEMIC OF FLU SWEEPING EUROPE

BY CHARLES M. MCANN.

London, January 4.—A mild form of influenza and gripe is sweeping Europe. A million cases are reported in the British Isles alone.

Starting in December when it took a weekly death toll of 60 victims in Great Britain, the influenza has spread until today's reports showed that it was taking a heavy toll in Berlin and other German cities, in Madrid and in cities of Switzerland.

While it has not yet reached anything like the proportions of the influenza wave that swept the world last year, the epidemic is being taken to prevent such an epidemic.

Scarcely an office or school in Europe has failed to feel the effects of the epidemic. Deaths of 60 a week in the British Isles, as given for the month of December, do not include the statistics on the spread of the disease during the last 10 days, which has caused most alarm.

The British believe liberal portions of hot-bum and hot Scotch have aided them in averting the disease's more serious effects. Many families have established the custom of a nightly bedtime drink either as a cure or a preventive.

When the disease raged through a considerable portion of the world in 1918 its mortalities were highest in the American army, and many blamed this fact on absence of necessary rum or wine rations.

94 DIE IN WEEK IN SPANISH CAPITAL.

Madrid, January 4.—Ninety-four persons died of influenza in the city last week, and the number of cases in the entire country is estimated at 20,000.

Many physicians are stricken and their associates and assistants are working night and day.

15,000 SUFFERERS REPORTED AT GENEVA.

Geneva, January 4.—Conservative estimates place the number of those suffering with influenza at 15,000, with a fractional percentage of deaths.

In two towns in the canton of Baleville there are 2,500 sufferers.

DEATHS REPORTED IN BAVARIA.

Berlin, January 4.—Influenza is increasing in central Bavaria with deaths reported. The gripe is spreading in Berlin. Numerous shops and factories have had to reduce their staffs due to illness of employees.

30 DEATHS DAILY REPORTED IN FRANCE.

Paris, January 4.—A gripe epidemic which has swept southern and central France has been felt most acutely in Montpellier, where there have been an average of 20 deaths daily during the last week. It is less serious in Paris.

Undertakers in Montpellier are so busy that city officials have been forced to restrict the type of funerals which may be held. Only the smallest number of cars will be permitted to follow the coffins to the graves and ceremonies must be cut short.

DR. A. F. QUILLIAN, FORMER ATLANTAN, DIES IN HOSPITAL.

Dr. Andrew Fletcher Quillian, former Atlantan, who has been a resident of Bradenton, Fla., for the past two years, died Tuesday afternoon at a private hospital here after an illness of several months.

A native of Commerce, Ga., Dr. Quillian secured his early education in the schools there and later attended Emory college at Oxford, where he graduated.

Soon after completing his course at Emory, Dr. Quillian began practicing medicine and surgery and at the beginning of the war was in the service as a surgeon and held the rank of captain in the medical corps. He was overseas for more than a year.

After the war Dr. Quillian came to Atlanta and lived until two years ago when he went to Florida. He was a member of the Rotary club and many other civic and fraternal organizations in Bradenton.

Funeral arrangements for Dr. Quillian have not been completed. Sam R. Greenberg is in charge.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Misses Christine and Frances Quillian; his father, Dr. J. A. Quillian, and sister, Mrs. Claude Tuck, both of Winterville, Ga., and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. J. C. Martin and Mrs. O. H. Matthews, of Atlanta.

COOLIDGE RAPPED FOR HIS ATTEMPT TO MUZZLE PRESS

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—President Coolidge was criticized in the senate today by Senator King, democrat, Utah, for what he termed "a lecture to the press for its criticism of the President's foreign policy."

The senator said he had been unable to determine what this country's foreign policy is, but "it is not a wise thing to attempt to muzzle the press or retard its discussion of the foreign policy."

The reference was to a recent white house utterance in which the president was represented as feeling that the government was being handicapped in foreign affairs because of the attitude of some American newspapers.

SECESSION RIGHT TESTED IN SUIT OF LABOR UNION

Milwaukee, Wis., January 4.—(AP)—The right of members of a labor union to secede and form "left wing" organizations with the funds and memberships of the original union is being tested in court here.

The suit, being heard by Judge John J. Gregory, was started on behalf of officials of the grand lodge of brotherhoods of railway and steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees. The organization with a membership said to be in excess of 100,000 is the plaintiff in the action against Elias D. Siegel, Michael J. O'Donnell and Herman Zander, who have been in charge of the Milwaukee lodge.

BIG NAVY MEN RENEW BATTLE

BY ALFRED P. RECK.

Washington, January 4.—Declaring that battleships were wholly confined to the battle fleet, big navy supporters in the house today started in to override opposition and put through their program for an "adequate sea defense."

The little group of big navy men won their first skirmish when Representative Tilton, Connecticut, republican floor leader, agreed to sponsor an amendment providing funds for constructing three additional cruisers. The appropriation for the vessels was omitted from the regular naval appropriation bill.

The navy group will now drive to secure money for the construction of a 6,000,000 cubic foot dirigible despite President Coolidge's opposition. Determined in their efforts to bring the American navy up to the agreed 5-5-3 ratio, majority members of the house naval affairs committee are prepared to battle President Coolidge's recommendations with a withstanding opposition.

Members of the committee declare they have enough votes on the floor of the house to replace the $10,000,000 cut from the appropriation bill. Besides the cruisers and dirigible, other increases will be sought through amendments from the floor. The navy aviation budget was slashed $1,910,000, and efforts will be made to reinstate this amount.

Armed With Data.

Chairman Butler, leader of the big navy group, declared that he was armed to the teeth with data disclosing the absolute necessity for construction of ships at the present time. Part of this information was brought out by Butler attacked statements made by Representative French, Idaho republican, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee in charge of the naval bill.

French was forced to admit that he had included some of the ships used by Admiral Dewey at Manila in determining the present strength of the navy.

Butler declared that England and Japan have replaced the tonnage which they scrapped under the Washington disarmament treaty and were within 150,000 to 200,000 tons of their previous naval strength.

"These replacements have been made by adding cruisers, not limited by the treaty, while the United States navy has remained almost at a standstill," Chairman Butler charged.

Tilson Backs Fight.

With Tilton sponsoring the amendment to provide funds for the three additional cruisers, the navy group believe that the proposal is almost certain of passage.

Tilson conferred with President Coolidge on the amendment but declined to say whether the chief executive approved the proposal. "The time for whispering has gone by," in spite of charges that elevation of guns aboard the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada would violate the spirit of the Washington treaty, Butler announced he would introduce a bill providing for a 30-degree elevation.

He is backed in his proposal by Representative Bitten, Illinois republican.

Spanking Son, Mother Dies Of Injuries

Chicago, January 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Mohoff, 39, died last night from injuries suffered while spanking her eight-year-old son, Leo. Leo, the father said, struck his mother in the abdomen with his head while trying to elude her. She died from abdominal hemorrhages which doctors said resulted from the blow. Leo's father said he did not know why the boy was being punished.

BIGAMIST GIVEN SUSPENDED TERM; DIVORCED, REWED

Norwich, Conn., January 4.—(AP)—William Clark was sentenced to state prison for one year for bigamy, was divorced by his first wife, and was remarried to his present wife here today.

The bigamy charge was brought against Clark to allow Clark's first wife, whom he married in Sprague, Conn., in 1920, to get a divorce, and so that he might remarry Bertha Hoffman, whom he married in Ohio in 1922.

The sentence to state prison was suspended, as was also another sentence of six months in jail for theft. The court granted the first wife her divorce and a short time later Clark was remarried to his second wife by a justice of the peace.

Oklahoma democrat, protested that elevation of guns upon America's battleships would be in violation of the treaty with England and Japan. Butler replied, "other nations are engaged in competitive naval armament building and the United States must join them."

"Guns on British ships outrange those on American vessels two to one," Rear Admiral Bloch has testified before the naval committee. A 30-degree elevation of guns upon our ships would give them the greatest range afloat."

NADIEL ARRESTED FOR HARBORING PAT M'DERMOTT

Cleveland, Ohio, January 4.—(AP)—A new arrest in the Don R. Mellett murder case, under question since the Canton editor was slain July 16, resulted today from statements of witnesses who admitted they harbored Patrick

Eugene McDermott, convicted of the murder, for a month after Mellett was killed.

Ben Nadel, Cleveland, was arrested on a charge of harboring a criminal after Stanley A. Siegel, with his wife, disclosed to federal authorities that they concealed McDermott for a month when Nadel presented him as a "bootlegger in a jam."

Authorities previously had been unable to trace McDermott's movements for a month after Mellett's murder.

GARY IS ASSAILED FOR PROHIBITION VIEWS

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—Elbert H. Gary, of the United States Steel corporation, drew the fire today of W. H. Stuyton, national chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, who assailed him particularly for his expressed view that the Volstead law had benefited American workmen.

"No one can question," said Stuyton in a formal statement, "that it is not only the right but the duty of the officers of the Steel corporation or for the corporation itself to do anything it can to increase the effectiveness of the work of its employees."

But when a corporation asks the government to intervene and to deprive a workman of his pleasures and amusements, or even of his health, in order that the corporation and its stockholders may get better results from its workmen, it is treading on very dangerous ground.

"For, if a government can take away a workman's right to a glass of beer and thereby stop his capacity to enjoy himself, it can easily take away Judge Gary's opera box so as to make him put in more time at his work and to produce more for the laborer."

ATLANTA AS AIRPORT GETS WIDE PUBLICITY

Recognition of the rapid advancement of aviation activities in Atlanta is given in the last issue of Aero Digest in the form of an article on "Atlanta Is Air-minded," and a series of pictures of Candler field.

Aero Digest, considered the leading publication on aviation in the country, devotes much space to descriptions of the opening of the air route to Florida and the proposed lines to be operated out of Atlanta to New York, New Orleans and Fort Worth. Pictures of Candler field and the city council aviation committee supplement the article.

CLAYTON MAYOR ASSUMES OFFICE AMID OVATION

Clayton, Ga., January 4.—(Special.)—Leon Bleckley, member of one of the most widely known north Georgia families, assumed his duties as mayor of Clayton Monday amidst an ovation of his town people.

The importance of Mr. Bleckley's election to the office of mayor of Clayton is greatly enhanced by the fact that each summer thousands of southerners spend vacations in the mountainous regions here which for five months of the year is considered one of the best summer resorts of this section.

Mayor Bleckley is the son of the late James E. Bleckley, who at his death two years ago was representative from Rabun county in the state assembly. He is a grand nephew to the late Logan E. Bleckley, former chief justice of Georgia supreme court.

Mayor Bleckley is 34 years old and a native of Clayton, in which section his ancestors lived for generations.

Prior to his election as mayor he was connected with leading railroad companies of this section. His present office is the first public office he has held.

SUTTON EXPLAINS STAND ON BIBLE IN CITY SCHOOLS

Declaring that he did not indorse teaching of the Bible in the public schools at a session of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association Monday, but did enthusiastically approve a plan to give Atlanta school children religious training, Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of public schools, Tuesday issued a statement explaining his action.

Mr. Sutton's statement follows: "In yesterday's paper appeared an article reporting a speech which I made to the Evangelical Ministers' association. The leading of the article and some of the content seemed to carry the idea that I believed in teaching the Bible in the public schools. I am speaking to the Evangelical Ministers' association and referred to the plan which has been outlined by the board of week-day religious education. This plan in brief is as follows:

First: That the board of week-day religious education would provide near the school a system of religious education, allowing the Protestant denominations to have a school for their children, the Jewish people for their children, the Catholic for theirs, etc.

Second: The plan had the idea that upon request of the parents such children as desired might be excused from school one period per week to receive to their own denominational school of religious where they might be given proper religious instruction.

Third: The plan has been provided by all the religious denominations, as understood, and was advocated by Protestants, Catholics and Jews. It was such a plan as that I most enthusiastically and heartily indorsed, and not a plan to put the Bible into the public schools.

MAN SPEECHLESS FOR FIVE YEARS NOW ABLE TO TALK

Voiceless for five years, Nix Melvin, of Decatur, can speak again; stricken dumb when doctors removed his larynx he faced a lifetime of silence.

Then, at the recent meeting of medical men his case came to the attention of a Toledo surgeon who asked Melvin to that city to undergo experimental tests. Science devised an instrument, a metal tube, to connect an air hole in the throat with his speechless lips.

It was a success. Vocal cords in the tube reproduced his voice, perfectly, naturally. A triumph for science; but much more than that to Mr. Melvin.

DR. STARNES BEGINS SENTENCE IN PRISON

Dr. W. A. Starnes, convicted recently in United States district court on three counts of violating the Harrison narcotic act, Tuesday entered the Atlanta federal penitentiary to begin serving a term of two years.

Dr. Starnes was sentenced to two years on each count, but Judge Sibley in federal court applied the sentences to run concurrently. Dr. Starnes was given a brief period of grace in which to settle his affairs before entering prison, and Tuesday surrendered to carry out the sentence of the court.

RIVAL OFFICIALS ROLE UNION CITY

Union City, N. J., January 4.—(AP) With the exception of a slight flurry in its judicial department where a republican recorder had two policemen remove a democratic clerk from the courtroom, the dual government of this city functioned quietly today.

Rival sets of officials, one group appointed by a republican mayor and the other by a democratic city council had effected a truce, whereby both were to hold office pending a decision by the courts as to which shall rule.

Although Morris Umanusky, republican recorder, after the agreement last night held court peacefully with William E. Day, his democratic clerk, he underwent a sudden change of mind today and ordered Day escorted from the room by police. Vincent Dominick was appointed to serve in his place.

Day's ousting was bitterly denounced by A. Michael Lepore, democratic appointee as city treasurer. His appointment by William Hanneberg, republican commissioner of finance, was the conciliatory move that led to the truce last night.

Peace reigned in the department of charities where one overseer of the poor yesterday threw the city hall into an uproar by smashing down the door behind which his rival was barricaded. William J. Tighe, democrat, carried for several applicants for aid in a temporary office, while Julius Klump, his rival, worked in the regular quarters from which Tighe was ousted.

HALLMAN EXPLAINS PEACHTREE PARK MOVE TO LIONS

Henderson Hallman was principal speaker at the Lions club meeting Tuesday at noon at the Wincoff hotel.

Mr. Hallman predicted an early move by city authorities toward establishment of the Peachtree park, and discussed possibilities of enlisting government aid in construction of a boulevard from Stone mountain to Marietta, via Roswell, Ga.

Tuesday was ladies' day at the club and in addition to speakers a musical program was arranged which included solo numbers by Kathleen Watson, accompanied at the piano by Hallie Watson.

The club put in the form of a resolution its appreciation and pleasure at the recent action of Harry M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of directors of the Georgia Railway and Power company, in affixing himself with the work of the Georgia association.

A. C. Keiser and Bob Pennington were in charge of the program. Announcement was made that the next addition of The Lion, official publication of the national association, will be devoted almost entirely to boosting Georgia and the southeast.

OCCUPATIONAL TAX DELINQUENTS FACE HEAVY PENALTIES

Business houses and foreign and domestic corporations of the state will be prosecuted in the courts unless they pay up immediately delinquent occupational taxes for 1926, it was announced Tuesday by H. G. Bell, deputy state revenue collector.

Mr. Bell now is at work Fulton county and brought several cases against Atlanta firms Tuesday for failure to pay this tax. Under the law, a 50 per cent penalty can be imposed and the taxpayer must pay all costs.

"All firms in Atlanta and in the state that have failed to pay this tax, either from oversight or for other causes should pay them at once or prosecutions will be undertaken," Mr. Bell said.

In the list of companies required to pay this tax are real estate firms, restaurants, cafes, barber shops, foreign and domestic corporations and many other lines of business.

OFFICERS OF 122D INFANTRY RESUME REGULAR MEETINGS

Officers of the 122d infantry, Atlanta's own national guard regiment, Wednesday resumed their regular weekly luncheon meetings at the Ansley hotel. Colonel Charles H. Cox presided, and covers were laid for more than 30 officers of the outfit.

Discussions of national guard affairs, particularly with reference to problems of the coming year in Georgia, featured a brief after luncheon period, various officers giving their views and opinions.

Meetings were suspended for two weeks during the holidays but will be held regularly this year on Wednesdays at 12:30 o'clock in the Rainbow room of the Ansley.

Dr. Connally's Illness Bars Usual Party For Wife's Birthday

The serious illness of Dr. E. L. Connally, one of Atlanta's best known pioneer citizens, will this year confine the usual celebration which Dr. and Mrs. Connally hold each year at "The Homestead," in West End on January 5, Mrs. Connally's birthday, to the family circle. Mrs. Connally is 77 years old.

Dr. Connally's home has long been known by legion of friends for its old-fashioned southern hospitality. He is 89 years old, and his condition has been for several months a matter of concern to his family and friends, but it was only recently that physicians announced his illness to be critical.

DUPONT SALESMEN WILL CONVENE HERE

Southern salesmen and jobbers of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company will hold a sales convention in Atlanta on January 12-14, at the Henry Grady hotel, it is announced by Gilbert Little, southern supervisor, with headquarters in Atlanta.

The salesmen will be in session on January 13, while on the 14th the jobbers of this territory, which comprises Alabama, Georgia and Florida, will be given a banquet. Mr. Little said. Officials from Philadelphia will announce the complete program later. About 50 DuPont representatives will attend the convention.

EXTENSION COURSES OFFERED TEACHERS

Extension courses of the Atlanta Normal school will open at the Commercial High school at 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to Miss Emma Wesley, principal of the school.

Courses are open to all city and county school teachers and other persons desiring to attend, the work being an extension feature of the Atlanta Normal school, maintained by the city, Miss Wesley explained.

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

The pointer for today is:

A following bid does not guarantee two quick tricks but it does show more than one quick trick.

A following bid is the first bid made after an original adverse bid (e. g., a bid by Second Hand after a bid by Dealer, or a bid by Third Hand after a bid by Dealer, or a bid by Second Hand after a bid by Second Hand).

There are many cases in which it is obvious to Second Hand that he should double or should bid his own strong suit after a bid by Dealer; but there are many more cases in which Second Hand, holding far from a bust, has neither the strength to justify a double nor a suit strong enough for an original bid by the Dealer.

In yesterday's article the two following examples were given illustrating this situation:

1. Sp.: x-x. Ht.: King-Jack-9-x-x. Dl.: Queen-x-x. Cl.: x-x-x.

2. Sp.: x-x. Ht.: Ace-Queen-x-x-x. Dl.: Queen-x-x. Cl.: x-x-x.

With No. 1, after a bid of one spade by South, West should pass; with No. 2, he should bid two hearts.

West is justified in making a following bid with less high-card strength than is required for an initial bid. It may be his last opportunity to bid and he should not pass with a holding which a partner, not strong enough to bid himself, may supplement sufficiently to force the adversaries to an unacceptably high declaration.

With neither of the hands given above, should West have bid had South passed; but a following bid is different. It does not guarantee the two quick tricks expected of an initial bidder, but it does announce one quick trick plus.

The "plus" may be a King or Queen-Jack, or any other trick possibility. As a "quick trick" means Ace or King-Queen, it will be seen that No. 2 has one quick trick plus additional strength; but No. 1 cannot be credited as having even one quick trick.

A following bid, being made after an adverse bid is exposed to one danger which does not threaten an original bid. The double of an original bid will almost surely be taken out by the partner. It does not guarantee the double is informative; but the double of a following bid, if made by the next adversary, will not be taken out because the double would be for business, the partner of the doubler having bid. It is not wise, therefore, to make a following bid unless the high-card strength is up to the requirements above named.

Suppose sitting North you held:

WEST END POSTOFFICE SEEKS NEW QUARTERS

Overgrown by the greatly increased business within the past few years, Station A of the Atlanta postoffice is to have new and larger quarters.

Bids for the new quarters will be opened in the office of Joe P. Johnston, inspector in charge, on January 31. According to specifications, at least 3,400 square feet of space will be needed, twice the present floor area of the station.

Station A is located at Lee and Gordon streets. The present lease expires July 1, and new quarters will be occupied immediately after that date, it was stated. The personnel and office equipment of Station A has increased so that there is a great lack of room for efficient service, making larger quarters absolutely necessary, announcement of the bid for bids and the search for new and larger quarters.

HEALTH OF FULTON CONVICTS IS GOOD

The general health of the 700 state prisoners in Fulton county has been exceptionally good this winter, there having been no cases of influenza, la grippe, pneumonia or colds of any sort the last four weeks, according to Dr. Paul McDonald, county physician.

Only two of the prisoners were in the hospital Monday and neither of these were sick enough to be bedridden. During the past year there were only nine deaths among county prisoners, all of which were caused by chronic diseases, the physician said.

NEUFELD T. JONES ASKS DEBT RELIEF

Petition of Neufeld T. Jones, inmate of the Federal penitentiary, for discharge of his debts as a bankrupt, will be heard on January 17, under an order signed Tuesday by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley.

The hearing was to have been held Monday, but Jones did not attend to answer questions of creditors, claiming that he could not attend as he was confined in the penitentiary. Judge Sibley ruled that Jones should attend the hearing on a writ of habeas corpus and testamurum or apply to have his testimony taken otherwise.

In default of this, Judge Sibley will deny the plea for discharge, he set forth in the order.

Jones, who listed debts of $10,000 in his petition for bankruptcy, was sentenced to the Atlanta penitentiary from Baltimore for alleged violation of the prohibition laws in connection with his operation of a drug store.

Sibley, in asking that he appear at the hearing on the discharge petition, claim that Jones is seeking to conceal assets in the bankruptcy case by taking refuge in his confinement in the prison.

INSURANCE BONDS GIVEN RECEIVER BY COURT ORDER

W. J. Speer, state treasurer, Tuesday was ordered by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley to issue three Liberty bonds valued at $10,000 each, to H. E. Cole, receiver for the Integrity Mutual Casualty company, that Mr. Speer had been holding as the bond of the insurance company to do business in Georgia.

In his order directing Mr. Speer to hand over the stock to Mr. Cole, Judge Sibley held that the Integrity company is insolvent and that the receiver should get the bonds to satisfy people who hold proper liens and claims against the company. Mr. Speer had been holding the bonds on the contention that he had the right to satisfy the claims through proceeds of the Liberty bonds held as bond for the company.

Judge Sibley ruled that the state laws are inadequate to secure equitable division to claimants in cases of insolvency of insurance companies and insufficient deposits. The case was that of the Bankers Limited Mutual Casualty company, of Milwaukee, against the Integrity Mutual Casualty company, in equity.

Start the New Year Right With Insurance Protection

Start the new year right—with protection for your family!

The Constitution offers you the cheapest and most efficient insurance service obtainable through a local newspaper in the form of its $7,500 Travel Accident policy issued through the North American Accident Insurance company.

Every day traffic accidents claim a heavy toll of life and limb. No man can tell when tragedy will seize him as its victim; every head of a family—and all members between the ages of 15 and 70—should be and can be protected by this amazingly economical policy.

The insurance policy offered by The Constitution is more sweeping in its protective features than any other policy obtainable through a local newspaper. It pays $7,500 for loss of life in wrecks as specified in the policy; heavy sums for loss of limbs, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from certain accidents.

The cost of this policy is only $1.25 and you may secure its protection by enrolling as a regular subscriber of The Daily and Sunday Constitution as described in a big advertisement which appears almost daily in this paper.

To delay when the cost is so insignificant is to tempt fate. For the safeguarding of your wife and babies, don't fail to take advantage of an offer which has never before been equalled. Remember that the policy described here can be obtained only through The Constitution.

Watch for the advertisements which describe it. Then act quickly to guard your family and loved ones from possible want and misery.

Stribling Wins Easily Over Jones in 10 Rounds

"Honey Boy" Snipes Whips Benny Regan In Semi-Final Bout

Webb and O'Rourke, Who Substituted for Avera, Fight to Draw in Second Battle—Hunter and Clark Also Reach Stalemate in Fiasco.

In a spotty fight, as exciting at times as it was drab at others, "Baby" Stribling, younger brother of the famous "W. L.," took an easy decision over Tommy Jones, conqueror of Hollis Sullivan, in the main match of a 36-round card staged at city auditorium Tuesday night under the auspices of Burt and Walk Miller.

The bout was not without its moments of gripping thrills despite the fact that both fighters showed a tendency to do more sparring than fighting. When times came for hand-to-hand combat the youthful Stribling had the best of it and the famous knockout punch of Jones just failed to land.

Baby Stribling showed great improvement over the last time he showed here and even exhibited some tendency to mix it fiercely when Jones came in to get a little of the Stribling gloves. Jones started the bout by taking the lead but Stribling made him miss so many times that the Atlanta youth became a little wary and then the fight was all on the Baby's side.

Missed His Punches. Neither of the lads showed any great ability to hit. Jones has heretofore exhibited some ability to punch, but whenever he started one of his haymakers toward the Babe, that individual was somewhere else just at that time and more often than not Jones met a flat himself.

The first round was even and the next went to Stribling by a shade while the third and fourth were again even. In these two rounds there was little fighting on either side, though Jones was doing most of the leading.

The next four rounds went to Stribling by large margins, the leading was about even but Baby grabbed the advantage of glove planting in the close work. On several occasions the younger Stribling rocked Jones with one-two's to the head but never seriously hurting the Atlanta.

Jones made a belated comeback in the ninth round and carried the fight to Baby but the best Tommy could do was get an even break and the final frame again went to Stribling. It was Stribling's battle nearly all the way and if the youthful member of a fighting family will learn to lead a little more he will be a great fighter before the curtain is rung down on his first career.

Hollis Sullivan prefaced the main bout by entering a challenge for the winner of the Jones. Hollis was beaten by Jones here recently and holds a decision over Stribling. Honey Boy Snipes, the lanky youth from the Stribling stable in Macon, boxed his way to a decision over Benny Regan in the semi-final.

Benny fell foul of his usual fault with the result that before the bout was half gone he was swinging wildly and an easy prey to the jabs of his cooler opponent. Snipes was making Benny miss consistently and though the blows of the Macon youth failed to do any serious damage except to mar the serenity of Benny's countenance, the fight went to Snipes by a wide margin. Our count gave Snipes five rounds, Reagan two and three even.

A Funny Draw. Those among the customers with a sense of humor had plenty of opportunity to exercise it when Walk Miller's latest find, Waddling Clark, the goggling gargantuan and Happy Hunter, a scrappy dusky middleweight, fought to a funny draw. This bout was delayed somewhat while frantic seconds tugged earnestly to pull the leather on the oversize mitts of the huge negro. Once on, they proved a sausage skin fit, much mystery was furnished in this battle, the puzzle being how Hunter managed to keep off the feet of the giant, which apparently

U. S., BRITISH OPEN DATES REARRANGED

The change in the date of this year's British open golf championship will not alter Bobby Jones' decision not to defend his title. He made this declaration Tuesday night in reiterating that his law studies at Emory university here and business interests would prevent him from devoting sufficient time to preparation for the event.

New York, January 4.—(AP)—American and British golf authorities have reached a compromise agreement avoiding conflict in the dates of the 1927 open championship tournaments of the two countries.

The American open event has been advanced a week under the agreement and will be held June 14, 15 and 16 while the British open championship has been set back to the week of July 11, according to announcement tonight by H. H. Ramsay, secretary of the United States Golf association. Both events previously were fixed for the week of June 20.

The rearrangement assures the invasion of a British professional team to compete for the Ryder cup. This trophy was played for abroad for the first time last season, when a British team trounced an American squad led by Walter Hagen. In return it is probable a group of leading American players will go to England in July.

PHYSICIANS GIVEN POWER TO STOP BOUTS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) New York, January 4.—The right to stop bouts in this state when a participant is in danger of serious injury through the death of Robert Schleiger, 23, was before that body.

Schleiger, known in the ring as Bobby Kenwood, died in Harlem hospital last night after he had collapsed in the ring of the New Star Athletic club during his bout with Mike Speigel.

A few months ago the commission took from seconds the right to throw in a towel when, in their judgment, the boxer was in no condition to continue. The direct cause of that ruling was the action of Eddy Roche, manager of Steve "Kid" Sullivan, in throwing in the sponge at a time when Sullivan appeared to be doing very well in a bout with Ted Morgan, junior lightweight champion.

The referee of last night's fatal bout, Joe Bernstein, an old lightweight fighter, reported to the commission today that he stopped the bout as soon as he thought it expedient. Magistrate Corrigan, in homicide court, held Speigel in $1,000 bond for examination next Tuesday. He discharged the five club officials arrested in connection with the fatal bout.

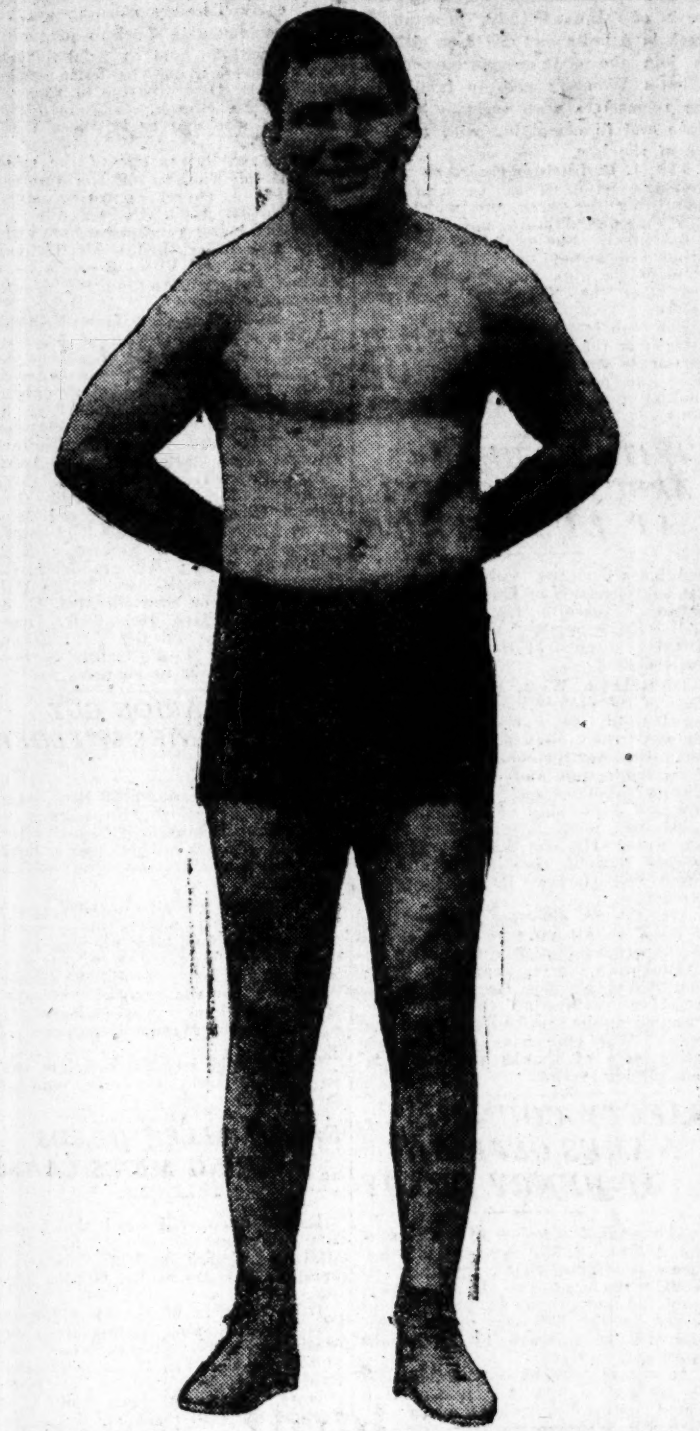

TO REBUILD CHURCH DESTROYED BY FIRE

Sparta, Ga., January 4.—(Special.) According to the Rev. Claude Hendrick, pastor of the local Methodist church, plans are already being made for rebuilding the Pierce Memorial Methodist church which burned here Sunday afternoon with a loss of about $50,000 to the congregation. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

It is probable that services will be held in the auditorium of the Sparta public school until the new building has been erected. Hendrick measured 17 inches or more from stem to stern. Spike Webb and Tommy O'Rourke put on one of the scrappiest battles of the evening in the second bout. O'Rourke substituted for Larry Avera at the last minute when a physician furnished by the boxing commission advised Larry to stay out of the ring.

He proved somewhat surprising since it was expected that Webb would furnish a heavy tap sole. Just received, in Tan or Black, and only—

AFTER COMEBACK

Jim Browning, well-known wrestler who will perform in the one-hour preliminary match at the bone-crushing show to be staged by Promoter John Contos at the city auditorium Thursday night. Browning is well known to Atlanta fans, having almost beat the tough Dick Daviscourt in a match here several weeks past. Browning agreed to the preliminary job only after Promoter Contos had promised him a return match with Daviscourt.

SOUTHEASTERN UNDERWRITERS LEADING LOOP

BY C. C. MITCHELL. Southeastern Underwriters took the undisputed lead in the Insurance league by downing Commercial Union, 40 to 28, on the Atlanta Athletic club court Tuesday night while the North American Insurance company quitted was falling victim to the Firemen's Fund, 30 to 15. The Royal Insurance company won an easy game from the Hartford team, 25 to 12, in the other scheduled contest.

Firemen's Fund pulled the biggest upset for the season by downing the North American boys. They took the lead at the opening whistle and were on top all the way, although North American tried desperately to check them. Singleton, the big cog in the North American attack, was a marked man and as a result they could not get their attack to working with any consistency. On the other hand, McDonald and Mathis, two Firemen's stars, had little trouble in sifting through the North American defense and sinking shots throughout the game. McDonald led the pack with 16 points while Mathis was close behind with 13.

In the opening game of the evening, Royal Insurance company had an easy time with the Hartford five. The passing and shooting of the winners was far superior to that displayed by Hartford and it was only their wonderful fighting spirit that kept them in the running. Drew and McKinney were the big guns for Royal while Williamson and Quillian showed up best for Hartford.

The Southeastern Underwriters were slow in getting started but once they got under way they had little trouble in trimming Commercial Union. The Union boys were off at the whistle and soon went into a lead on Lockridge's two field goals. Bumstead came back with a goal from the field which, coupled with a free throw and a goal superior to that displayed by Hartford and it was only their wonderful fighting spirit that kept them in the running. Drew and McKinney were the big guns for Royal while Williamson and Quillian showed up best for Hartford.

The investigation has failed to show any actual bribery, said Hope Thompson, first assistant federal district attorney, but he promised further developments involving money, possibly some subordinate federal officials.

PRINTERS' HOME HEAD IS SUED BY NURSE

Colorado Springs, Colo., January 4.—(AP)—John C. Daley, superintendent of the Union Printers' home here, was named defendant in a $50,000 damage suit filed by Helen Grant, a former nurse at the institution, in district court today. The plaintiff charges attempted assault.

Through his attorney Daley denied the charges, declaring the suit was an outgrowth of internal politics within the institution and in the International Typographical Union which maintains the home.

TECH CAGERS BATTLE A. A. C. FIVE TONIGHT

All is set for the Tech-A. A. C. game at the Atlanta Athletic club tonight. Both teams went through the finishing workout Tuesday afternoon and all that remains to be done before the opening whistle is a little polishing up of the boys.

Both teams are in excellent shape, according to the coaches, and fans are promised one of the best games ever seen on the local court. The Tech Cagers have just returned from a long basketball tour, and Coach Roy Mundorff says that his boys gained a lot of basketball knowledge on the trip.

The Bean boys have been holding long practices for several weeks and are in shipshape for the opening game of the season. Both are looking forward to a victory to start the year off with. Coach Bean is expected to have an excellent team this year, having some of the best material in the city to build his team with.

This game will be the first major game of the season for local fans and a large crowd is expected to be on hand for the battle. A preliminary game between the Pep Class of the "Y" Church league, and the North American insurance cagers of the volunteer league. These teams are about the strongest in their leagues and should furnish the fans with plenty of action while the big boys are preparing for the main bout of the evening. This game will start at 8 o'clock.

CHARLOTTE SPEEDWAY HITS ROCKS

Charlotte, N. C., January 4.—(AP)—Whether races sanctioned by the American Automobile association will continue to be held here was in doubt today after officials of the Charlotte Speedway Inc., announced a voluntary petition in bankruptcy would be filed in United States district court as soon as possible.

Hope was expressed by some officials that the financial affairs of the speedway would be adjusted to permit continuance of the races, while others said the financial status was such that they did not care to comment on the future.

Small attendance at recent races was given as the reason for the bankruptcy action. Officials recently announced that the company probably would have to be thrown into a receivership to adjust the financial affairs.

Officials Abolish Old 'Derby Trial'

Lexington, Ky., January 4.—(AP)—The Blue Grass stakes, known to horse racing circles as the "derby trial" because it once served as a final preparation for starters in the Kentucky derby, was abolished today by directors of the Kentucky association.

The decision was reached after a long held here was decided upon because the American classic among horse races now is run two weeks after the event. The Kentucky derby, which was formerly and horses participating in the Blue Grass stakes accordingly have other opportunities for final runnings before the derby.

The Blue Grass stakes has been run 11 times and last spring its winner, Bubbling Over, won the derby. Other winners of the race, Altwood, Bo McMillan, Husky American and Black Servant, have played prominent parts in deciding the Kentucky derby.

Colt company, makers of Colt-Light, a subsidiary of the Union Carbide company, to Atlanta is under consideration, it was announced Tuesday night following the second day's session of the three-day annual meeting of state managers and branch officers at the Ansley hotel.

Figures of the past year's business read at the meeting show that the company increased its sales by 50 per cent over the previous year. Officials of the company expressed an optimistic view of 1927, stating that still greater sales volume is expected.

Attending the meeting are more than 70 officers and representatives of the firm, headed by H. F. Reiss, of New York, vice president and general manager of the company, and A. Williams, of Chattanooga, southern branch manager.

State managers in attendance are: L. H. Leslie, Virginia; C. R. King, North and South Carolina; W. A. Henderson, Alabama and Mississippi; J. E. Hartsock, Kentucky; R. B. Owens, Florida; R. B. Bricker, Georgia; B. C. Matthews, of Chattanooga, credit manager of the southern branch, is attending the meeting.

Washington, January 4.—(AP)—The scouting and battle fleets of the United States navy will assemble on January 12, in southern waters for winter maneuvers. Approximately 60 vessels will participate.

Vessels of the scouting fleet were under orders to sail from their home yards today to rendezvous at Hampton Roads, Va., preparatory to sailing to Guantanamo Bay for the maneuvers. After tactical and gunnery exercises during January and February, the battle fleet will join them at Guantanamo, March 16, and after combined maneuvers both fleets will sail for New York April 23.

Contos Promises Fans Series of Good Shows During Coming Year

Says Thursday Night's Show Is Only Sample of What He Intends to Give Atlanta Wrestling Fans During 1927.

"This wrestling show Thursday night is just a sample of the big and better ones that I am going to offer the Atlanta fans this year."

Such was the statement from Promoter John Contos Tuesday, the eve of the arrival of "Strangler" Lewis, Cliff Binkley and the other four wrestlers who will battle in the three bouts on the Thursday night program. The bill calls for four hours of wrestling, unless someone all of the matches are cut short by victories.

This is the first show that Promoter Contos has offered this year and marks the start of his second as a promoter in Atlanta. Contos promoted his first match here last January after sports writers, fans and other promoters had warned him that it was impossible to make the Atlanta fans take a liking to wrestling.

Washington, January 4.—(Special.) The senate today approved all of the several items for Georgia that Senator Harris had in appropriations committee. These are a $25,000 appropriation for paper manufacture; $10,000 additional for administration of federal warehouse act so that cotton seed, canned fruit and syrup might be included in its benefits; $10,000 additional for naval stores investigation, as regards getting rosin and turpentine out of live pine trees with least injury, and $6,000 additional for agricultural department work in eliminating pecan tree pests in middle Georgia. BREAKING THE RECORD

The shortest big bout on record was for the heavyweight championship of the world between the ship of Europe in 1918. It lasted 50 seconds.

—and how about this record?

There is one cigarette, and only one, which has been among the top five of all brands, every year since 1906! Takes a top-notch to turn in a record like that. Apparently, too, it takes the taste of Virginia tobacco straight—for Piedmont wins on taste, and Piedmont is all golden Virginia tobacco!

Note. With the sole exception of our celebrated Richmond Straight Cut, Piedmont is the only "Virginia tobacco" cigarette enjoying a national sale.

Showdown Expected in Big Baseball Scandal

Accused Men To Face Risberg at Meeting Called By Landis

High Commissioner Will Decide Fate of Players Involved in Biggest Scandal in History of Game—Silent on Eve of Hearing Set For Today.

Chicago, January 4.—(AP)—The baseball scandal of 1917 will come to a definite showdown when Commissioner Kennesaw Mountain Landis opens the most extraordinary hearing in the history of the sport here tomorrow morning.

Commissioner Landis, acting as judge, jury and inquisitor, will decide the fate of a score of presently major league stars involved in charges made by Charles A. (Swede) Risberg that the Chicago White Sox bought a four-game series in Detroit in 1917, so the White Sox could edge out the Boston Red Sox in the race for the American pennant.

17 To Be Present. Commissioner Landis invited 38 men, one of whom is dead, to face Risberg, their accuser, at the hearing tomorrow, and 17 of the number had accepted tonight. Among them are Ray Stark, newly appointed manager of the White Sox; Eddie Collins, recently signed as second baseman of the Athletics; Donie Bush, the ex-manager of the Pirates; Clarence Rowland, now an American league umpire but manager of the White Sox at the time the games in question were played; and Ty Cobb, involved with Tris Speaker, in a charge of throwing games in 1919.

There was a definite feeling stirring today that unless something is done in regard to the situation involving Cobb and Speaker, who resigned when the recent game-throwing charges in 1919 were threatening the players involved in the newest scandal, may be ousted.

In the Cobb-Speaker scandal Commissioner Landis gave out the testimony resulting from his investigation, but made no decisions as to the guilt or innocence of Speaker or Cobb, since the two stars had resigned and were no longer connected with baseball.

Must Render Verdict. Now, the commissioner has on trial more than a score of players, still shining brilliantly in the major leagues, and must render a verdict, innocent or guilty, on the startling charges made by Risberg.

Risberg's story is to the effect that certain members of the White Sox pooled $45 each to make $1,800 which was paid to the Detroit pitchers for "doughing off" in the series. It was Rowland whom Risberg alleged investigated the plot and declared in Risberg's presence that the series had been fixed.

Rowland's denial of the accusation has been made in no uncertain terms. Rowland said he would welcome the opportunity to confront Risberg, the banished former shortstop of the Chicago White Sox, who was forever barred from organized baseball for participating in the crooked world's championship series between Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds in 1919.

Landis tonight refused to make any comment on tomorrow's fateful proceedings. The hearing will open in the commissioner's office at 10:30 a. m., and probably will last two or three days.

Schalk, Collins and Harry (Nemo) Leibold, and other members of the 1917 White Sox team admit giving their $45 contributions to the pool, but they uphold the innocent version of the Detroit gift, while Rowland, declares he never heard of it at all.

PAY-OFF MAN SAYS CHARGES ARE FALSE. The alleged pay-off man of baseball's latest scandal told the United News in an exclusive interview today that he would face Judge K. M. Landis in Chicago and prove that the story told by "Swede" Risberg was false.

"Big Bill" James, named by Risberg as the one who got the money which Risberg asserted was paid because Detroit pitchers had allowed the Chicago White Sox to win the 1917 American league game series in 1917, admitted receiving a sum of money from Risberg and Arnold "Chick" Gandil.

Backs Other Players. But James, said the money went to Detroit pitchers and perhaps other members of the club for their great showing against the Boston club, which was fighting the White Sox for the 1917 American League pennant. He denied emphatically that the money was paid because Tiger pitchers had "thrown" the series.

This statement coincides with the version of the affair given by many players implicated by Risberg.

"I told me could not as I pleased with the money," James said. "Big Bill" said he had kept a diary at the time and that this will assist him in relating his story to Judge Landis.

RISBERG LEAVES TO FACE PLAYERS.

Rochester, Minn., January 4.—Charles M. "Swede" Risberg left Rochester tonight for Chicago, where he will face the baseball players he has accused of participating in a 1917 scandal.

GENE SARAZEN WINS MIAMI OPEN TOURNAMENT

Miami Beach, Fla., January 4.—(AP) Gene Sarazen, winner of the Miami Open last week, added the annual Miami Beach Open to his winter record here today, beating a fine field with a card of 277. Sarazen won after a spectacular flight with Jack Hutchison who finished second with 281. Sarazen and Hutchison were tied last night with 138 each, and both went around in 68 this morning, three under par.

Harry Hampton, the Memphis professional, was third with 284; Al Espinosa, of Chicago, fourth with 286, and Tony Manero, of Fairview, and Willie Klein, of Wheatley Hills, tied for fifth with 285. Frank Ball, English pro, finished ninth with 292, after a 140 yesterday.

The playing of Sarazen and Hutchison featured the tournament today. At noon today they had 290 each, with Hampton in third place with 210. Hampton threatened for a time in the afternoon, and after a good start Hutchison filtered and took 28 on the first nine. Sarazen went out with a fine 34, playing perfect golf hole after hole. Hutchison started the last nine well, but a six on the par five, 14th put him out of the running. Al Espinosa played fine golf all day but was too far back.

Other Scores. Other scores: Willie Dow, Fargo, N. D., 288; Henry Guici, Bridgeport, 290; Frank Ball, England, 292; Laurie Ayton, Chicago, 292; Ben Veichman, Cincinnati, 293; Louis Myers, Providence, 293; Jim Brophy, Cincinnati, 294; Wilfred Reid, Detroit, 300; Jimmie Martucci, Teterboro, 301; Al Guici, Fresh Meadows, 302; Eddie Williams, Peoria, 302; Augie Nordone, Siwanoy, 303; Charley Mayo, Pompano, 304; George Ayton, Asheville, 305; Clem Weisman, Cincinnati, 305; John Brophy, Miami Beach, 306; Rocky Rich, Fresh Meadows, 308; Jack Oke, Pittsburgh, 308; Tony Manero, New York, 308; Lee Chase, Buffalo, 312.

WINGO NAMED NEW MANAGER OF COLUMBUS

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 4.—(AP) Wingo, veteran Cincinnati National league catcher, appointed manager of the Columbus team of the American association today, has for a long time been desirous of directing a baseball club. Last season he acted chiefly as coach for the Reds and took part in only a few championship games. He was a ten-year man, and, if released, would have been a free agent.

The directors of the Cincinnati club employed him to manage the Columbus team for one year.

The Cincinnati club recently purchased the Columbus franchise and will use it as a farm for developing players, but the directors announced also that they expect to give the Columbus fans a winning team.

Gotham Ring Body Approves Bass Go

New York, January 4.—(AP)—The state athletic commission today waived the suspension of Red Chapman, Boston featherweight, who lost on a foul to Benny Bass, Philadelphia, last Saturday night, and approved a return match for February 4 as a semi-final to the Rosenberg-Gibson heavyweight title match at Madison Square garden.

All boxers losing on fouls ordinarily are under automatic suspension.

Sandlot Basket Leagues Planned

The Sandlot Athletic association will organize two basketball leagues, the first to be composed of boys weighing less than 110 pounds, and the other of boys whose weight does not exceed 125 pounds. There is no age limit.

An elimination tournament will be held immediately following the close of registration. Teams of interest should communicate with Sam H. Saltzman, or before Saturday, December 8, as the entries close that date. Saltzman is located at 551 1/2 Luckie street.

Ole Miss Cagers Defeat Sewanee

University, Miss., January 4.—(AP) The Ole Miss continued its winning streak here tonight by decisively defeating the Sewanee Tigers by score of 40 to 13. The Mississippians outclassed their opponents in every department of the game.

Both teams showed the effect of two weeks' vacation. Many fouls were registered against both sides.

RICKARD OFF TO 'WRAP UP' TITLE BATTLE

New York, January 4.—(AP)—Tex Rickard left late today for St. Louis to "wrap up" Gene Tunney's first match in defense of the world's heavyweight championship.

The promoter was accompanied by Billy Gibson, manager, and Dudley Field Malone, legal adviser of the champion, together with newspapermen, most of them apparently convinced that Rickard's conference Thursday with Tunney will furnish the final flourish to negotiations already completed.

Rickard, while silent on details of his plans before departing, is understood to be confident of signing Tunney to a blanket agreement calling for a title bout against any opponent the promoter may select, the match to take place at the Yankee stadium around September 16.

Included also in Rickard's program is an attempted come-back by Jack Dempsey, the former champion being slated to meet either Jack Delaney, the 175-pound champion, or the winner of the current elimination tournament, Jack Sharkey, Jim Maloney and Paulino, the Spaniard, are other figures regarded by the promoter as top-notch contenders. The best two of the contenders lot are slated to fight it out for the right to meet Tunney.

PEP CAGERS EASILY BEAT WESLEY FIVE

The Pep class and the Anchor class of the Baptist tabernacle cagers, along with the hard fighting Western Heights quintet, turned in victories in the "Y" church basketball league, Tuesday on the Y. M. C. A. court.

The Epworth workers had a tough time defeating the Gideon class in a close and well played game, 17 to 12. The Pep class used plenty of substitutes and easily defeated Wesley Memorial, 33 to 12, all of them taking part in the scoring. Rogers, at running guard, turned in a total of 10 points for the winners. The Peps had possession of the ball most of the time and on many occasions worked it straight to the basket. Spear and Curtis looked best for the losers.

Mayo played a star game for Epworth workers and led his team mates to their victory over the Gideon class. Mayo's six points sent Epworth into a small lead which they retained throughout the game. The losers were the services of McHenry, Hunt-singer and Hornsby carried the burden for the losers, while Mayo and Dillard worked well for the winners.

The tall Anchor five had new faces in the lineup in Slim Haynes and "Big Boy" Roeborg, and both performed well. Price was the hero of the evening with 23 points for the winners in addition to playing a good floor game. Dill Owen played well at guard. The losers were fast but weak on their shooting.

College Park's winning streak was broken when they were overpowered by Western Heights. The losers played hard and threatened their foes the last when Becky Speaks found the basket for four goals, making his total 14 points. Carpenter and B. Mott performed well for the winners. Haire and Dennard were best for the losers.

Buster Cook Is Invited To Attend Millrose Events

Buster Cook, star athlete while at Tech High, and holder of the southern prep record for the 440-yard dash, will leave on or about February 10, for New York, to run in the 440 event in the annual Millrose Athletic club games, having received an invitation from Millrose officials.

Buster, who is a football and basketball player in addition to being a track star, is at present a freshman at Georgia Tech, and played on the rat football team last fall.

The Millrose Athletic club, of New York, holds indoor track events in February of each year, and the best trackmen in the country attend the meets.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

We Wonder? Like another well-known newspaper, this column is inclined today to do a little "we wondering." The latest turn of the baseball scandal serial gives rise to a number of "wonders"—most of which, by the way, are unanswerable.

The first big wonder is: We wonder who will investigate Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis now that the car himself is under the guns? Nearly everyone in both major leagues and many who are not in the big loop have been mentioned in connection with a choice bit of scandal, but now the worm has turned and Judge Landis has been accused of hiding some scandal back in the dark ages somehow.

Now the question is, who will examine Judge Landis? He is supreme in baseball and the matter is not within the realm of civil courts. Maybe the judge will hold an historic monologue and cross-examine himself.

We also are inclined to wonder if the new scandal in which "Swede" Risberg and Chick Gandil accuse some two score ball players, is not a great stroke in favor of Ty Cobb. One of the most noticeable things in the accusations of both Gandil and Risberg is the fact that both men state voluntarily that Ty Cobb had nothing to do with the alleged deal in 1917. Nearly every other player on the Tiger team is named but Cobb is exonerated by the statements.

Such a turn, coming at a time when Cobb and Speaker are under fire in a rather ambiguous accusation, seems to us to be a great bribe for Cobb.

We also wonder just when someone will drag the names of a few club owners into the mess. These individuals are about the only ones who have not yet been accused and if baseball was as crooked as the accusers would have us believe it stands to reason that some of the club owners might have been mixed up in some dirty work. They stood to gain more than the players. That is an idea for some scandal passers—WHY NOT ACCUSE A FEW CLUB OWNERS AND HAVE A REAL FIGHT?

Atta Boy, Buster! Every day some new figure in Atlanta or from Atlanta breaks into the limelight of the sports world. The latest individual to gain big time is Buster Cook, former athlete of Tech High school and now a student at the University of Georgia. Buster will be remembered as one of the best athletes produced at Tech High for many a year and his track efforts have received particular notice in the form of an invitation from the Millrose Athletic club to participate in the Millrose games to be held in New York. He will run in the 440-yard dash and perhaps some other events. The fact that Cook received an invitation to attend the nationally famous indoor games is indicative of the renown he has won as an athlete.

Furman Quint Beaten By J. P. C. Five, 26-24 BY C. F. THOMPSON. The Jewish Progressive club won a cage contest from a mauve whirlwind from Furman on the J. P. C. court Tuesday night by the exceedingly close margin of two points. If the timekeeper had been five seconds later pulling the trigger the score would have been tied, 26-26, but as it was Fundy's goal came about that many seconds late and therefore the Yiddishers took the contest, 26-24.

The tilt was an exciting one and fouls quite conspicuous and prominent. In fact, Seigel and Hillman went to the showers during the second frame for attempting to carry an avoidpoids of over four fouls. But the scorekeeper intervened and the two gentlemen—singly of course, took to the lockers.

Byrnes, husky Furman guard, just missed a free trip to the showers himself, the game ending with three personal misdemeanors chalked against him. The game was very foul from a personal and technical standpoint.

The Furman whirlwind started the game with a vigor that was sustained throughout and was exceedingly fast. The J. P. C. cagers fought, along about the middle of the first stanza, that they were in fast company and accordingly speeded up. A five point lead by the Furman aggregation was overcome and the J. P. C. took a one point lead. The half ended however, with the whirlwind leading 15 to 14.

Finklestein and Hirsch bore the brunt of the J. P. C. burden in the initial portion while Gibson and Woods seemed to have a gentleman's agreement between themselves and shifted positions more than once took the Furman honors.

In the second half, Hillman and Seigel with two personal fouls apiece against them, the J. P. C.'s began muting like a Furman guard. The first, Furman soon found itself looking up at a lot of points, Gibson and Woods, his shooting eye, along with that of several of his teammates, however, seemed to have become dislocated in the general fracas and they missed several easy ones. At the same time the quality of the guarding of the J. P. C. had improved somewhat.

There was considerable controversy over this matter, but eventually it was found to the satisfaction of all concerned that the goal had been about five seconds later than the whistle. Both teams made nine field goals.

The Lineup and Summary. J. P. C. Furman (3) Finklestein (9) Gibson (11) Hillman (9) Brabham Hillman (4) Woods (3) Seigel (1) Byrnes (2) Rosenberg (1) Substitutions: Furman, Fundy (3) for Brabham; Black (2) for Woods; Woods for Black; Black for Byrnes; Betts for Woods; J. P. C.: Levi for Hillman; Scofield (2) for Rosenberg; Hirsch for Scofield; Hillman for Levi; Scofield for Seigel; Levi for Hillman, Referee, Robinson.

Stanford Wants Game With Alabama in 1928 Stanford University, Calif., January 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Plans for a game between Stanford and Alabama at the close of the regular 1927 football season are being discussed informally here among the followers and some members of the Cardinals. The 7-7 tie of the two eleven last Saturday was a bitter pill for the Stanford men and most of those players who will be back next season are anxious for another meeting with the Crimson Tide.

It is understood Stanford authorities will be petitioned to arrange a post-season encounter with Alabama, with to this end Coach Wallace Wade, of the southern conference champions, is quoted as saying in Los Angeles that he would like to schedule a home and home game with the Cardinals.

Two Stanford players still are on the injured list as a result of the New Year's day battering. They are Dick Hyland, halfback, who remained in Los Angeles to be treated for a slight concussion of the brain, and Ed Walker, end, who suffered a fractured cheek bone. Bogue, halfback, and Shipkey, end, also received head injuries, but are up now.

Wheat May Join New York Yanks New York, January 4.—(AP)—Zach Wheat, veteran outfielder recently cast drift by the Brooklyn Robins, may catch a line thrown out by the New York Giants. Manager McGraw admits he is interested in Wheat. He also expresses high satisfaction over receiving the signed contract of infielder Bub Terry, who was with the Giants' most obstinate holdout last spring.

SEA DERBY PURSE SEEKERS PLAN FOR WORK

Los Angeles, Calif., January 4.—(AP) The array of swimming talent in training for the $40,000 Wrigley channel swim scheduled for January 15, was augmented today by six natators of note who planned to immediately begin their preparations for the event.

Antony Isele came the longest distance to have a crack at the "pot of gold" at stake, having traveled from Lake Constance, Austria. Isele had only enough money to pay his expenses to New York. There he obtained a job in the gallery on the line, Monaco and worked his way to Los Angeles. He claims to hold a number of swimming records made on Lake Constance.

From the eastern part of the United States came five others. Louis Timson, of Lynn, Mass., representing the American Legion of that state, is one of the latest arrivals. He accompanied Gertrude Eberle and Mrs. Clementine Corson on their successful swim of the English channel.

Others reporting were Hardy J. Reynolds, claimant of the Ohio long distance championship; Miss Ethel Hertel, representing the New York Women's Swimming association; Pete Myers, of Cincinnati, and Miss Pauline Jackson, of New York.

300 GOLFERS TEE OFF TODAY IN BIG MEET Los Angeles, January 4.—(AP)—Thirty hundred golfers will tee off on six courses here tomorrow in the qualifying round of the $10,000 Los Angeles open tournament.

Some 40 national and international stars are exempt from the 36 holes of qualifying play.

The first round of the tournament will be started Friday at El Caminito Country club, with 128 golfers in competition—the exempted stars and the lower scorers in tomorrow's qualifying round.

The 64 low players for the first 36 holes, 18 of which will be played Friday and 18 Saturday, will qualify for the final championship 36-hole of medal play Sunday.

More than half of the players entered the tournament are of foreign birth. Officials of the junior chamber of commerce, in charge of the event, declared the field to be the largest and most colorful array of professional golfers ever seen west of the Rockies.

WISCONSIN WILL HAVE NEW GRID COACH Madison, Wis., January 4.—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin is to have a new football coach. He probably will be named Thursday to succeed George Little, director of athletics, who has resigned his position from the athletic council to name his own successor as gridiron mentor, in order that he might devote more time to his athletic administration.

The name of Little's successor likely will be presented to the board of regents Thursday for confirmation. No indication was given today by Little of the coach he is seeking to sign, but there were persistent rumors that Glenn Thielthwaite, coach at Northwestern university, would be offered the position.

Thielthwaite's five-year contract at Northwestern expires next June, and he has received a number of offers, among them one from the University of Texas, at Austin, and one from Wisconsin.

In his five-year service at Northwestern Thielthwaite brought the Purple from the foot of the Big Ten standing to a tie for the championship this year with Michigan.

Little came to the University of Wisconsin two years ago from the University of Michigan, where he was first assistant to "Hurry-Up" Yost. Although he has combined the duties of director of athletics and football coach for two years, he has set a record of eleven victories, three defeats and two ties on the gridiron for the Badgers, finishing both times among the top five of the conference.

With the increase in his duties as director, expansion of intramural athletics and plans for a new field house, Little asked the athletic council to give him authority to sign a head coach for football.

Little is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university.

Epworth Star Girl Team Practice Set Miss Peggy Lannous, who will coach the Epworth girl All-Stars, held a practice of her fair candidates Wednesday afternoon. The practice will be held on the Wesley Memorial court from 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock. All who are going to try for a place on the team are requested to be present.

The manager of the team is arranging a fine schedule for the team and it will include some of the best girls teams around the city.

The All-Star team will be composed of the best players in the city and should put out a good team.

Belmont Futurity Purse Is Raised New York, January 4.—(AP)—The Belmont futurity, two-year-old classic to be run at Belmont park next fall, will be worth more than $100,000, making it the richest turf event in the country. This was indicated today by announcement from the Westchester Racing association that entries for the stake, now closed, will exceed the present record total of 1,935.

Comisky Considering Signing Tris Speaker As White Sox Pilot

Friends of Chicago Owner Urge Him to Put Former Cleveland Boss as Head of Sox Clan—Say It Would Be Good Idea.

(By Leased Wire to the Chicago Tribune.) Chicago, Ill., January 4.—While Kennesaw Mountain Landis was preparing tonight for the opening tomorrow of the most unusual inquiry ever held in the history of organized baseball, a new rumor was claiming attention. It was this:

Charles A. Comisky, owner of the White Sox, is reported to have under consideration the offer of a contract to Tris Speaker.

It was definitely known that Mr. Comisky has discussed the wisdom of attempting to acquire the services of the former Cleveland manager whose mysterious demise from the leadership of a team that had just finished in second place, has not been satisfactorily explained.

The American league bosses have admitted that Speaker was shipped out of his $50,000 a year job. The public has been led to assume that the Cleveland club wanted to force Speaker out in order to avert a threatening scandal storm.

Club Owners Failed. If that was the club owners' purpose it failed. For the Leonard charges were broadcast in full. By this time the public must be aware that the only charge against Speaker is the statement of "Dutch" Leonard. Over Cobb's head hangs the shadow of a letter he wrote. Speaker was mentioned in a single written word. Over his head is Leonard's story and that alone.

Those who have urged Comisky to sign Speaker have pointed this out. They have added that Judge Landis has never said that either Speaker or Cobb could not get back in baseball. They have told Comisky that they believed it would be a popular idea.

These friends of Speaker argue that Schalk, Collins, Faber and all the others named in Charles ("Swede") Risberg's story of thrown games are under a cloud of the same texture as the cloud that mow blows Speaker from the game.

Expresses Surprise. Mr. Comisky expressed surprise when asked if he were considering the Speaker deal.

"Even if Speaker did return to the club he chooses?"

game he would be the property of the Cleveland club, wouldn't he?" Comisky asked.

"Speaker has been unconditionally released," the reporter said. "At least, that's the idea given the fans. He's a ten-year man in major league ball. Why couldn't he sign with the club he chooses?"

Who Supports Your Charities?

LOCAL BUSINESS MAN vs "BELL RINGER"

PLEASE REMEMBER:

This campaign is in no way directed against legitimate local business houses and local branch stores of national concerns, which, because of the nature of their merchandise, find it convenient or necessary to demonstrate from door to door. Such reliable stores are entitled to your patronage. It is with the fly-by-night, irresponsible peddler for out-of-town concerns that this series of articles has to deal.

Copyright, 1927,
S. B., Inc.

When it becomes necessary to seek aid for our poor and destitute, for our sick and needy --- to whom do we send our committees for contributions? Do we call upon our local business man or do we petition the "Bell Ringer" of outside houses?

Our charity chest must be filled to overflowing every year in order to care for the wants of our helpless and dependent. Who is it who makes filling of this chest possible --- local business man or "Bell Ringer?"

This is just one phase of public service in which the merchant or business man is expected to take the lead in your community. And he never fails. He never falls down. We have become so used to taking this as a matter of course, that we are prone to forget the unselfish sacrifice made by our retailers in order that no one in this community shall go hungry; in order that little children may be clothed; in order that medicines and nourishing foods may be supplied the impoverished sick within our gates.

The local merchant the business man does his bit uncomplainingly. He is the real community builder. And in return, he asks nothing but a square deal. He asks, that all things being equal, the public buy its merchandise from local stores instead of from peddlers for outside houses. Do we not at least owe him this much?

Even though you could get better values for your money from the "Bell Ringer," a sense of loyalty would suggest that you patronize your local business houses. But you DO NOT get better values from the out-of-town peddler. Therefore, it is not only the loyal and decent thing to buy from your local stores, but IT IS TO YOUR OWN BEST BUSINESS INTERESTS TO DO SO.

Let us all cooperate. Our merchants help us, let us help our merchants. Let us all pull together for the common good. You can do your part toward promoting prosperity for the entire community, by saying "NO" to the peddler. Patronize your home-town institutions. Keep your money in circulation here where it will do everybody some good.

Miss Brown Weds Mr. Du Bois At Lovely Home Ceremony

Amid a setting of stately beauty and impressive dignity Miss Frances Brown, only daughter of Mrs. James Rice Brown, became the bride of George Du Bois, of Washington, D. C., Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, the ceremony taking place at "Cherokee," the handsome Peachtree road home of the bride's cousin, Miss Sally Eugenia Brown.

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the Second Baptist church, read the marriage service in the presence of a representative gathering of southern society, including the immediate families, relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

Myriads of fragrant Easter lilies, combined with ferns, smilax and tropical foliage adorned the home throughout, transforming the lower floor into a bower of springtime loveliness. An altar of palms, thickly flanking the altar on either side were massive, ancestral silver candelabra holding tall white cathedral candles.

The lights were softly shaded, a delicate tracery of smilax forming a relief against the shades. The stair rail was festooned with garlands of southern smilax, the newel posts topped with large clusters of Easter lilies, held in place with bows of white tulle.

Musical Program.

A program of nuptial music was rendered preceding the ceremony. Mrs. A. E. Culbertson, of Anniston, Ala., sang "Until," by Sanderson, and "For You," by Montague. She was becomingly gowned in orchid chiffon beaded in crystals, with a shoulder corsage of pink roses and valley lilies.

An orchestra, playing the wedding march from Lohengrin, announced the approach of the bridal party, which descended the stairway and entered the living room.

First to enter were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert C. Watson, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Jack Spillane, of Jacksonville, Fla.

They were followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. Kirk Smith, of Lakeland, Fla., and Miss Louise Freeman as maid of honor.

The attendants wore lovely chiffon gowns fashioned alike, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Watson wearing pastel green with Miss Freeman and Mrs. Spillane wearing orchid. Characterized by the modish low waistline and worn over satin slips of the same shade, the becoming costumes were fashioned with the round neckline in front, and forming a V-shape in the back. The full skirts ended in graceful folds which were outlined in uncurled ostrich, an ostrich ornament also adorning the left shoulder.

The attendants carried arm bouquets of pink and yellow roses, showered with lavender sweetpeas. Preceding the bride, Master Jack Baldwin, small son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Baldwin, carried the ring on a white satin pillow. He wore a smart Lord Fauntleroy suit of white satin.

Beautiful Bride.

The lovely bride entered with her brother, Joseph Emerson Brown, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Robert C. Watson, of Washington, D. C.

Of a stately type of beauty, the bride was radiantly lovely in her wedding robes of softest white wedding ring velvet, fashioned along simple, draped lines over a foundation of flesh-colored chiffon. An elaborate pattern of pearl and crystal embroidery formed the finish of the round neckline, the sleeveless bodice and bottom of the skirt. The court train of velvet, falling from the shoulders, was lined with flesh-colored chiffon and applied in handsome rose point lace. A coronet of rose point lace, finished with tiny clusters of orange blossoms, held in place the wedding veil of tulle. A bouquet of pale pink orchids, showered with valley lilies, completed the bride's exquisite toilette.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. The bride's table, beautifully appointed in detail, was covered with a handsome lace and embroidery cloth, brought by the bride from China on a recent trip around the world. Gracing the center was a mound of pastel-shaded spring flowers, including roses, snapdragons, lilacs and Parma violets, outlined with a fringe of valley lilies. Tall white tapered burned unshaded in silver holders at either end of the table.

Mrs. James Rice Brown, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in black chantilly lace, over pale pink satin. A shoulder spray of pink roses and Parma violets adorned her left shoulder.

Handsome Costumes.

Miss Sally Eugenia Brown, cousin of the bride, wore white Chinese embroidered crepe, a shoulder corsage of pink roses and Parma violets completing her costume.

Mrs. Isobel Du Bois Hill, of Washington, D. C., sister of the groom, was a charming figure wearing a model of green crepe, elaborately embroidered in rhinestones, and a corsage bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

Miss Elizabeth Spalding kept the bride's book.

Miss Sally Spalding, Miss Penelope Brown and Miss Mary Brown served punch from large silver bowls set in mounds of brilliantly tinted fruits.

Later in the evening, Mr. Du Bois and his bride left for a wedding trip to New York, after which they will be at home after February 1 at their new home, 1230 30th street, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Du Bois traveled in a smart model of magenta crepe, with which she wore a becoming French hat of woven straw. A handsome coat of seal and squirrel completed her costume.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emerson Brown, of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Mrs. Isobel Du Bois Hill, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Jack Spillane, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. H. E. Culbertson, of Anniston, Ala.; Miss Jane Wilhoit, of LaGrange; Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Smith, of Lakeland, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Watson, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. H. C. Latimer, of Belton, S. C.

He is a native American of native born parentage and is proud of the fact that his entire musical education, with the exception of one year in Berlin, has been in this country. He was for some time the pupil of Mortimer Wilson, a former Atlantan, who was one of the first promoters of the local symphony orchestra.

AWFUL GAS PAINS AND SICK HEADACHES

Mrs. John Brogdon, who lives near Altoona, Ala., says:

"Five years ago I was in very bad health. I had suffered for years with constipation, and my system had become so thoroughly poisoned that I experienced all kinds of discomfort. My skin was yellow and my tongue was badly coated. I had gas pains, and it seemed like I could not get rid of them. Every now and then I would have an awful spell with my side. I had sick headaches which would come on me suddenly and I would have to give up and go to bed. I had read the Ladies Birthday Almanac and made up my mind to try Black-Draught. I had known about it for years, but it just happened that I had never taken it until that time. I sent to the store and got some which I began at once to take. I took it regularly for several weeks, and I began to improve almost immediately. My color cleared up, I had a good appetite, and I no longer had the pains in my side. I was so pleased with my improvement that I began giving the children Black-Draught for colds and constipation. It has proved to be an invaluable family medicine, and I have recommended it to several of my friends."

AFTER HIS CLAIM FOR FREEDOM HAD BEEN DENIED BY THE STATE AND FEDERAL COURTS IN MISSOURI, DRED SCOTT, NEGRO SLAVE, CARRIED HIS CASE BY APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES. THE QUESTION BEFORE THE COURT WAS WHETHER THE FEDERAL COURTS HAD JURISDICTION IN THE CASE.

ON MARCH 6, 1857, THE SUPREME COURT DECIDED IN THE NEGATIVE, BASING ITS DECISION ON THE GROUND THAT SCOTT, A SLAVE, WAS NOT A CITIZEN ACCORDING TO THE CONSTITUTION, AND THAT TEMPORARY RESIDENCE IN FREE TERRITORY HAD NOT FREED HIM.

The Dred Scott Decision—1857.

CHIEF JUSTICE ROGER TANEY, VOICING THE OPINION OF THE MAJORITY OF THE JUSTICES, DECLARED THAT THE CONSTITUTION, AT THE TIME OF ITS ADOPTION, RESPECTED THE RIGHTS OF WHITE MEN ONLY; THAT A SLAVE WAS A PIECE OF PROPERTY THAT COULD BE TAKEN BY HIS MASTER FROM ONE PART OF THE UNION TO ANOTHER, AND THAT, AS CONGRESS COULD NOT LEGISLATE AGAINST PROPERTY, THE MISSOURI COMPROMISE ACT WAS UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

THE NEWS OF THE DRED SCOTT DECISION CAUSED CONSTERNATION IN THE NORTH AND MUCH REJOICING IN THE SOUTH. IT INCREASED THE HOSTILE FEELING BETWEEN THESE OPPOSING SECTIONS AND HASTENED THE CRISIS OF DISUNION. TOMORROW—EFFECTS OF THE DRED SCOTT DECISION.

Pupils Know Risque Tales; GIRL TEACHER DENIES BLAME

Indianola, Iowa, January 4.—(AP)—Children of the Broadthorn school, ranging in age from 10 to 14 years, may know risque stories, but they did not learn them from their teacher, Miss Florence I. Cochran, the teacher, declared today in a statement denying charges that she had entertained the youngsters during recesses with lurid tales.

Miss Cochran is fighting to regain her position in the little school, which has been closed since the directors obtained an injunction against her continuing as the teacher. Her case is in the hands of Walter M. McGee, county superintendent, who expects to rule in a few days upon evidence submitted by seven pupils and several friends of the teacher who gave character testimony for her.

Miss Cochran regards the case a school rumpus, in which, she declares, the president, C. C. Crawford, sought to oust her and install his son, Cleo Crawford, as the teacher. A previous attempt has been made to force her retirement, she declared. Superintendent McGee said today he considered that Miss Cochran's reputation was out for denial of the charges, but did not indicate what his decision would be.

The children who testified at a hearing before the superintendent, gave evidence concerning the conversation during a luncheon period, but Miss Cochran declares she did not tell them any stories and claims that their testimony was conflicting. One of the boys, she claims, related a tale he had heard from his father.

Miss Cochran is 19 years old and has been teaching two years.

RHINELANDER LOSES IN DIVORCE APPEAL

Brooklyn, N. Y., January 4.—Leonard Kip Rhinelander was defeated in court again Tuesday by Alice Jones Rhinelander.

The appellate division of the supreme court upheld all the findings of the jury for his wife in Kip's unsuccessful suit for annulment of marriage before Justice Morschauser at White Plains.

But the appellate judges left a loophole for further court action which Rhinelander's counsel will use. Four of the justices, Kelly, Manning, Jayce and Young, concurred in the decision. Justice Lazansky dissented. Failure to reach unanimous decision

Judge Dismisses 30 Liquor Cases; Warrants Faulty

Jacksonville, Fla., January 4.—(AP)—Practically every case involving liquor violations on the docket of the present term United States district court were automatically dismissed with a decision by Federal Judge Lake Jones today.

The justice ruled that illegal search warrants had been used by prohibition agents in searching homes and premises in Jacksonville and vicinity and seizing liquors alleged to have been found thereon.

Legality of the warrants was questioned by counsel for defendant in possession of liquor. The attorney's contention was in regard to wording of the warrants which did not contain names of the officers serving them. Searching of a man's home or premises is a serious thing and warrants must be construed strictly, was the summary of the justice's decision.

Authorities estimated that more than 30 cases were involved and prohibition officials said that the work of federal agents in this vicinity for the last three months had been made of no avail.

James B. Duke Estate Valued At $89,704,859

Somerville, N. J., January 4.—(AP)—A petition for the first accounting of the estate of James B. Duke, tobacco magnate, who died October 10, 1925, filed in surrogate court here today, disclosed the estate amounted to $89,704,859 at the time of his death.

The executor, Nanaline M. Duke, his widow, George G. Allen and William R. Perkins, have paid out in trusts and legacies $26,295,369 and in other expenditures $3,947,710. The expenses included $5,560,081 paid to the federal government and $2,581,366 to the state government in inheritance taxes. The total of expenditures and legacies reduced the estate to $53,451,778.

The will left $7,000,000 to a trust fund for Duke university in North Carolina, formerly Trinity college. A year before his death, Mr. Duke established a trust fund of $46,000,000 for educational, charitable and religious purposes.

MARY HAY WAITS FOR HER DIVORCE; HUSBAND IS FRIEND

Cannes, France, January 4.—(AP)—Mary Hay, motion picture actress, told the Associated Press that she does not expect to be granted a divorce from Richard Barthelmess until about February 15.

Premature reports that the divorce of the two prominent movie figures already was an accomplished fact were erroneous.

"My husband is one of my best friends," said Miss Hay. "We will both be happier when this episode is ended and neither of us is attempting to conceal the divorce."

THOMASVILLE IN BUILDING FLURRY

Thomasville, January 4.—(Special.) Building permits in Thomasville for the year 1926 show nearly half a million dollars increase over those of 1925. In 1925 the permits totaled $448,078 and for 1926 they were $775,281. Real estate men and builders are very optimistic over the prospects of a fine business year in their line. While there have been many new houses erected during the past year there is still a great demand for more by new residents who are constantly moving into the city and the houses built for rent are often occupied before the paint is dry on them.

In addition to the naming of the county police chief, warden, superintendent of the reformatory and the alms house, salaries of approximately 400 employees, whose compensation is not provided for, also will be fixed.

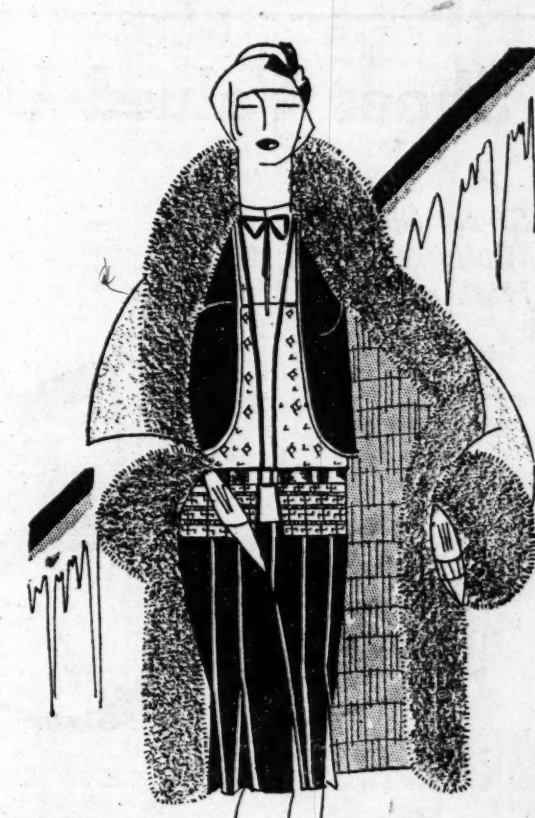

Charles G. Turner, elected to succeed Virlyn B. Moore, whose term expired at the end of 1926 and who now holds a Fulton superior court judgeship, will assume his new duties as a member of the commission at the meeting. Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the 1926 commission, will begin another term today. Other members of the board are Mr. Johnson, Colonel Hope and Walter B. Stewart.

THERE was a man who went abroad in search of riches, only to return home to find an acre of diamonds in his back yard. There was another who could not see the forest for the trees.

So many of us are short-sighted, afflicted with the nostalgia of distance, the pathos of the far-away.

To speak figuratively, here are acres of coats at diamond savings, right under your nose.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

EARLY IN THE MORNING OF MAY 17, 1776, THE BRITISH EXODUS FROM BOSTON BEGAN. THERE WERE SEVENTY-EIGHT SHIPS AND TRANSPORTS TO CONVEY THE BRITISH TROOPS AND REFUGEES. THESE LAST WERE THE FRIENDS OF THE BRITISH IN BOSTON, WHO HAD SO CONDUCTED THEMSELVES DURING THE SIEGE THAT THEY DARED NOT REMAIN. RENDERED HOMELESS, POVERTY STRICKEN, BEING FED AND CLOTHED BY CHARITY, THE SITUATION OF THESE REFUGEES WAS INDEED HEART-RENDERING.

OF THE RETREAT, WASHINGTON WROTE: "GENERAL HOWE'S RETREAT WAS PRECIPITATE BEYOND ANYTHING I COULD HAVE CONCEIVED. THE DESTRUCTION OF THE STORES AT DUNBAR'S CAMP, AFTER BRADDOCK'S DEFEAT, WAS BUT A FAINT IMAGE OF WHAT WAS TO BE SEEN IN BOSTON. ARTILLERY CARTS CUT TO PIECES, GUN CARTRIDGES SHATTERED—EVERYTHING IN DISORDER, CONFUSION AND DISTRESS." MEANTIME THE AMERICANS STOOD BY THEIR GUNS, GAZING IN JOY UPON THE SPECTACLE WITHOUT FIRING A SHOT.

THE NEXT MORNING THE AMERICAN TROOPS UNDER GEN. PUTNAM, WITH FLYING COLORS AND TO THE TUNES OF MARTIAL MUSIC, TOOK POSSESSION OF THE RECAPTURED CITY. NEARLY TWO THOUSAND PATRIOT FAMILIES RETURNED WITH THE CONQUERING ARMY AMIDST THE JOYFUL SCENES OF REUNION. CONSIDERING THE RESOURCES AT WASHINGTON'S COMMAND, THE OBSTACLES TO BE OVERCOME, THE RESULT OF THIS CAMPAIGN PLACED WASHINGTON IN THE HIGHEST RANK OF MILITARY COMMANDERS. THE ANNALS OF WAR SHOW FEW MORE BRILLIANT ACHIEVEMENTS.

THE BRITISH MINISTRY, PRIOR TO THE EVACUATION OF BOSTON, PLANNED TO TAKE MILITARY POSSESSION OF NEW YORK CITY, ALBANY AND THE HUDSON RIVER. WASHINGTON HAD SENT GENERAL LEE WITH A SMALL ESCORT TO CREATE A DEFENSE. SIR HENRY CLINTON, IN COMMAND OF THE BRITISH FLEET, ENTERED NEW YORK HARBOR ON SUNDAY MORNING. PANIC IMMEDIATELY ENSUED. THE FLEET COULD EASILY HAVE LAID THE CITY IN ASHES, BUT SINCE THE TORIES CONSTITUTED THE WEALTHY PART OF THE INHABITANTS, A GENERAL FIRE WOULD HAVE DESTROYED THEIR HOMES AND PROPERTY. SIR HENRY WITHDREW THE FLEET AND SAILED FURTHER SOUTH.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

BENGAL'S POSITION IS DISCOVERED.

Bengal examined Carillon's hurts and found them to be deftly and properly bandaged. He filled the cup with sea water and these dressings, having learned from experience the healing properties of pure, clean, natural brine.

"I am going to make a reconnaissance," he said to Irma. "The treatment you may expect to receive will depend largely on your care of this lady. At the worst, you ought to know what to expect. If the rest of your mob succeed in escaping for the moment, which I doubt, the best that you can do will be to turn state's evidence, or, to be exact, evidence for the crown. We are in British territorial waters, these Bahama islands being a grouped maritime province, and, as I have already reminded you, the old laws still obtain. The penalty for piracy is the rope. And the prosecution of such does not waste time."

He started to wade out again, then turned. "Where did they leave the others? Mr. Boyd, with his guests, and the yacht's crew?"

"I do not know. It was night and I was asleep." "You had better try to remember the time when the boat stopped, and any other details that you may have overheard. That should help your case." He glanced down at Carillon, whom he had placed on the pallet, a cushion under her curly head. She was sleeping like a hurt,

It was, Bengal decided, time to open the ball.

exhausted little girl. "If I do not return in about an hour rouse her gently and give her some more malted milk. Miss Carillon's condition is going to mean a great deal to you. I am a lawyer, and know."

Reflecting then on the amphibious features of this terrible adventure, Bengal swam back to the rock buttress of the grotto on the side of the cruiser, about the hull of which the water was beginning to lap. Another hour of tide and the motor sloop would do the trick, he opined. Is, it would do the trick if the efforts were not interfered with, say, by a good marksman entrenched among the rocks of the shore directly opposite and armed with a U. S. government rifle.

As he was making his way guardedly toward the spot best suited for this purpose Bengal examined in his mind the strategic features of the situation as it stood. His disguise as Tony would be efficient at long rifle range, but not at a point blank one. It was therefore necessary to decide whether to avail himself of it and risk some misses, or to discard it and get as close to the working gang as possible, which would be about one hundred and fifty yards.

So far the rest of the mob had no knowledge of Tony's removal, nor of an enemy on the cay. No shot had been fired, no person returned to camp to give the alarm. It was most probable that they had seen Rigel standing away to the northward, when, knowing her identity, they would perceive the necessity of haste and the danger of loitering. Also they had seen a man whom they supposed to be Tony carrying away the senseless form of their captive, with various impediments, and they would have to think what they pleased about that. Whether Tony had become impatient and meant to put the girl to the supreme test of torture in order to make her sign the confession, or that she died of shock, and he desired to make some disposition of her body.

But if a man supposed to be Tony were deliberately to open fire on them from the shore, possibly kill or maim one or two of them, there could be but one solution, that their chief now meant to double cross them. That Tony had the jewels in his possession, and, despairing of escape at this late hour, with an alarm of their location turned in or on its way, he had decided to "mark" the turn evidence for the town, as Bengal had advised Irma to do. This might not match up with Tony's criminal record and reputation, but there would appear to be no other choice of theories.

If it had not been for Carillon, Bengal would have chosen the former tactics, to disregard his disguise and fight it out at close range, adopt a swift offensive. But with her safety dependent on his own, this risk seemed unwarranted. The plan cut both ways, for while he stood a better chance of scoring fatally, so also did he risk more danger of being himself put hors de combat, with three and maybe four fine weapons directing their fire on him, and in the hands of men who knew how to shoot.

No, he had better forego mere revenge, or the further settlement of Carillon's score until she was out of the woods. The best way would be to give the rest of the gang reason to believe that their chief had turned renegade, exchange a few shots, when as the time of grace was so short they would not be apt to try to land and hunt down so redoubtable a desperado for the sake of getting their share of the loot. Besides, it was possible that there might have been already a division of it, and that in Tony's pockets no more than the lion's share.

Having therefore decided on this measure, Bengal, who had been keeping a weather eye open for the sloop, stowed himself in a crevice about three hundred yards from the cabin-cruiser and waited for what might next befall. He was rather surprised that the sloop should be so long in getting round to the place; had, in fact, expected to see her on rounding the point that opened up the other boat. But so far as concerned the tide there was still about an hour to wait, judging from the markings on the shore.

He had waited nearly this, he figured, and was beginning to think there must have been some hitch in the program, a recalcitrant motor, or possibly the sloop herself aground, when the bowsprit of that vessel came poking around a distant hummock and the rest of her astern of it. They would be drawing the time pretty fine, Bengal reflected, as if Gertrude succeeded in raising a posse immediately on reaching Ragged Island Harbor, a local pilot would bring the party back in a straight line across the Bank, thus shortening the distance from forty-five to about thirty miles.

The sloop approached cautiously the rocks where the cabin-cruiser was now nearly aloft and lost astern, and with water in contact with the whole of her keel, then stopped within about one hundred feet of her. A man got into a small boat towing astern, taking the end of a hawser, which another man in the cockpit paid out to him.

It was, Bengal decided, time to open the ball, or rather to start the feature of the show. He rose to his feet, indifferent as to whether or not his presence was discovered. Sighting carefully on the man in the small boat, he was about to press the trigger when the came from behind him and above a rattling salvo, and what seemed like a hail of bullets splattered against the rocks beside him, or whined over and past his ears. Fragments of lead and particles of stone stung him in various spots, one striking his cheek with stinging impact, so that for the moment he felt sure that he was hit in a multiple of places.

Nevertheless he fired on the man in the boat, but the fineness of aim was spoiled for so long a range. As he ducked back under cover more bullets crashed into his defenses. Most evidently he had been flanked from the top of the hill behind him. An armed party had in some fashion learned of his presence there, then taken a position on the hilltop and waited for him to show himself.

Bengal did not believe it could be the rescue party. There had not been time for that. More probably he had been discovered by one of the hand sent to learn what had become of Tony—and had come. So long as he kept down under cover he was safe enough, because the slope of the hill offered no cover at all. It would also be possible to slip back under shelter of the ledges to the grotto. But Bengal did not want to start them searching for that hiding place, nor did he wish to abandon his position.

One thing became immediately evident, that he could rise enough to fire on the sloop only at the greatest risk. There seemed to be three good marksmen up there on the hilltop about three hundred yards away, and their practice was good. Bengal discovered that he had not been actually hit, but only scratched by small particles of stone.

He was pondering this fresh phase of the situation when his eye was caught by an object floating past on the water, a long, dark, parallelogram. Bengal's first glance not only identified the character of this bit of flotsam but explained the reason for his present cramped position.

Advertising Is Beneficial To Both Seller And Buyer

About the only institution that makes money without advertising is the mint; but do not get the idea that advertising benefits only the advertiser; the advertisement reader is also a beneficiary of advertising if she becomes a buyer as a result of reading advertising.

The number of consistent readers of advertisements continues to increase, because they benefit by the practice, and their experience and benefits influence others. As a result advertising increases in volume and continues to advance in the art of being a perfect guide to buying.

The vast majority of people do their reading in the morning hours. They have gradually acquired this custom because if they have not previously arranged for some afternoon or evening diversion, experience proves that some spur-of-the-moment engagement will make it impossible to find time to read in the latter part of the day.

The Constitution reaches them at the period of the day when they have time to read without interruption, and that is why—

ADVERTISING IN THE CONSTITUTION PAYS THE ADVERTISER AND SAVES THE BUYER.

GALLIMORE HEARING TO STATE COURTS

The case of E. R. Gallimore, involving ownership of twelve lots and a number of houses in Olympian Heights, the outgrowth of voluntary bankruptcy proceedings, Tuesday was sent to the state courts by order of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of federal court.

Chief points in Judge Sibley's order concerned court jurisdiction as to whether state or federal court should pass on the case, as the matter first appeared in United States district court in the bankruptcy proceedings and then in the state courts in suit brought by the Security Plumbing company as material men.

Judge Sibley's order accorded the trustee the right to intervene in the state court, and held that if it is determined in superior court that Gallimore did not owe the materials and the lots and consequently does not own the lots or the houses, it should end the matter; but, if Gallimore acted for himself and owes for the materials, subject to secured debt on the houses, and owes for the lots, then the state court is engaged to turn the property over to the trustee for the materials.

The bankruptcy proceeding was filed August 7, 1926. Gallimore alleging debts of $120,000, practically all of which was for the lots and materials, and on August 13, 1926, the plumbing company filed suit as a creditor in superior court against Gallimore and H. H. Turner, the latter the latter two the owners of the lots.

Carnegie Way Lot Added to Holdings Of Local Company

Adding to its property holdings at the corner of James and Fairlie streets, the Southern Securities company, recently purchased a lot on Carnegie way, for $108,500 by exercising the option rights included in the lease on the property it bought last year at public sale of Bankers' Trust company's assets, it was announced Tuesday.

W. L. Moore, president of the Southern Securities Life Insurance company, of which the Southern Securities company is a subsidiary.

The James and Fairlie street corner was bought at the public sale for approximately $75,000 at the same time the leasehold and option on the Carnegie parcel was purchased for about $7,500. The Carnegie parcel is improved with an apartment house while the property in the rear contains business structures.

With the recent additional purchase the Southern Securities company now owns the southwest corner of Carnegie way and Fairlie street, measuring 100 feet on Carnegie way, 200 feet on Fairlie street and 100 feet on James street.

TRIPLE EXECUTION IN MASSACHUSETTS SET FOR THURSDAY

Boston, January 4.—For the first time in this state a triple execution will be held early Thursday morning when the three Waltham car barn bandits die in the electric chair at the Charlestown state prison.

An eleven-hour appeal in behalf of the trio was expected to have been made to Governor Alvan T. Fuller Tuesday. However, no such move was made, according to state house attaches.

John J. Devereaux, John J. McLaughlin and Edward J. Heinelein are the three. The execution of the trio was expected to have been made to Governor Alvan T. Fuller Tuesday. However, no such move was made, according to state house attaches.

The three men are now in the death house at the state prison. The execution arrived here Tuesday, and it was announced that everything is in readiness for the executions early Thursday.

The condemned trio said their last farewells to relatives and friends today. Reports from the prison say the three men are holding up well under the ordeal.

Better Protection For Miners Sought By Tennessee Solans

Nashville, Tenn., January 4.—(AP)—A movement for better protection of the lives of miners was launched in the Tennessee legislature today, when the house adopted a concurrent resolution providing for appointment of a joint committee from both houses to examine laws of other states and recommend a measure for adoption in Tennessee.

The resolution offered by Miss Sarah Frazier, of Chattanooga, only woman in the assembly of law-makers, referred to the recent terrible disaster in the Rockwood mines, when 27 lives were lost.

The house by resolution invited Meredith Nicholson, of Indianapolis, author of a bill to address a joint session of the house and senate on the life and times of Andrew Jackson. The invitation recalled that January 8 is the anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans, in which General Jackson led American forces in victory over the British.

Longer prison terms for embezzlers of bank funds were recommended by S. S. McConnell, state superintendent of banks, in his annual report to Governor Peay today.
